Bernard Darwin, 2026-01-10 Bernard Darwin's The Golf Courses of the British Isles is a peripatetic portrait of the game's sacred terrain from St Andrews Muirfield and Hoylake to the salt bleached links of Deal Portrush and Westward Ho. Combining topographical precision with strategic insight, Darwin maps winds, lies and lines of charm with lapidary prose. Paired with Harry Rountree's atmospheric plates, the book stands at the crossroads of Edwardian travel writing and emergent course architecture criticism, canonizing linksland as a distinctive literary landscape. A grandson of Charles Darwin, educated at Eton and Cambridge, Bernard Darwin brought a naturalist's attentiveness to sport. As golf correspondent for The Times and Country Life and a fine amateur competitor, he walked, played and chronicled these venues for decades. His legal training and reporter's discipline temper his affection, yielding judgments that combine empirical clarity, humane wit and lived familiarity with early twentieth-century golfing culture. Readers of golf history, landscape writing and course design will find this volume indispensable: a primary document and companion for pilgrimage. Approach it as a field guide and as literature; Darwin will sharpen your eye for wind and contour, deepen your sense of tradition and renew the pleasures of playing and watching. Quickie Classics summarizes timeless works with precision, preserving the author's voice and keeping the prose clear, fast and readable. Distilled, never diluted. Enriched Edition extras: Introduction, Synopsis, Historical Context, Brief Analysis, 4 Reflections, Q&A, Editorial Footnotes. The Golf Courses of the British Isles \(Classic Reprint\) Bernard Darwin, 2017-09-13 Excerpt from The Golf Courses of the British Isles: Some dozen or fifteen years ago the historian of the London golf courses would have had a comparatively easy task. He would have said that there were a few courses upon public commons, instancing as he still would to-day Blackheath and Wimbledon. He might have dismissed in a line or two a course that a few mad barristers were trying to carve by main force out of a swamp thickly covered with gorse and heather near Woking. All the other courses would have been lumped together under some such description as that they consisted of fields interspersed by trees and artificial ramparts, the latter mostly built by Tom Dunn.
