Conversations with New York School Poets Rona Cran, Yasmine Shamma, 2025-05-31 The New York School of Poets has since its inception been centred on peoples meeting rubbing off on knowing collaborating with being inspired by and most of all talking to other people many of whom happened to be artists and poets In this vibrant and insightful collection twenty five New York School poets are given an opportunity to explore and define the milieu they wrote from and to shed light on their journeys through New York and through poetry Collected over a three year period these fascinating and compelling conversations tackle reframe and probe the question of what constitutes the New York School The Great Naropa Poetry Wars Tom Clark, 1980 Talking Poetry Lee Bartlett, 1987 Poets & Writers, 2006 ARSC Newsletter Association for Recorded Sound Collections, 2002 Reading the Illegible Craig Douglas Dworkin, 2003 A poet takes another's text excises this prints over that cancels erases rearranges defaces and generally renders the original unreadable at least in its original terms What twentieth century writers and artists have meant by such appropriations and violations and how the illegible results are to be read is the subject Craig Dworkin takes up in this ambitious work Reading the Illegible explores such formal and structural manipulations in a wide range of exemplary cases John Cage's and Jackson MacLow's practices of writing through other texts the intentional cancellations of text by book artist Ken Campbell and conceptual artist Marcel Broodthaers Susan Howe's experiments in typography and cultural transmission visual complexity in Charles Bernstein Stan Brakhage and Rosemarie Waldrop the sedimentary texts of post minimalist artist Robert Smithson and poets Steve McCaffery and Christopher Dewdney the tactics of erasure employed by the poet Ronald Johnson and book artist Tom Phillips In his scrutiny of these works and with reference to a rich variety of contextual materials from popular and scientific texts to visual artworks political and cultural theories and experimental films Dworkin proposes a new way of apprehending the radical formalism of such unreadable texts His method seeks to unveil what Dworkin describes as the politics of the poem what is signified by its form enacted by its structures implicit in the philosophy of language how it positions its reader and other questions relating to the poem as material object In doing so he exposes the mechanics and function of truly radical formalism as a practice that moves beyond aesthetic considerations into the realm of politics and ideology Thus this book asks us to reconsider poetry as a physical act and helps us to see how the range of a text's linguistic and political maneuvers depends to a great extent on the material conditions of reading and writing as well as on the mechanics of reproduction
