Direct Work with Children and Young People Audrey Tait, Becky Dunn, 2018-04-19 Some children face traumatic or difficult events in their lives and it's essential that they are helped to understand such events and given permission to talk To do this helping adults need to be equipped and confident to start these conversations Conversation Starters for Direct Work with Children and Young People provides guidance and support for any adult who needs to talk to children about difficult issues The issues covered include domestic abuse and drug use mental health issues adoption and fostering family illness and bereavement as well as giving evidence in court Co authored by the bestselling author of Direct Work with Vulnerable Children and Direct Work with Family Groups this book combines seasoned practice wisdom with practical examples and activity ideas to enable you to best help the children in your care Talking with Children Amelia Church, Amanda

Bateman, 2022 In early childhood education and care ECEC the importance of extended conversations with children is emphasised through professional practice principles i.e. what teachers should do and in learning outcomes for children i.e. what children should be able to do Early childhood curricula frameworks or statements of learning goals for young children necessarily respond to the historical educational and political priorities of their communities There is however a universal understanding of the primacy of talk in interaction as both the medium of learning and a skill for children to develop All early childhood curricula reference the fundamental importance of talking with children Early childhood curricula do not however specify how talking with children might be done The deliberate lack of explicit directions on how to talk with children allows teachers to develop pedagogical strategies that incorporate each child's experiences abilities and interests forming a continuum of learning from their home and community environments The flexibility and responsiveness of curriculum frameworks for early childhood education frameworks developed and evaluated through national education and care policy enables teachers to create individualized learning for the children and families they work with The fact that early childhood curricula are not prescriptive aligns with a sociocultural approach to education where programs can adapt and respond to the needs of local communities It does mean however that the practices to implement national curricula and enable learning outcomes are less visible to teachers this illusiveness can be problematic as learning outcomes for children are specified in ECEC curricula Teachers know where they are going i.e. learning goals and why i.e. professional knowledge beliefs and theory but they are not always sure how to initiate navigate and extend conversations with children throughout this journey The Social World of Children Learning to Talk Betty Hart, Todd R. Risley, 1999 Based on data from 2;1-2;2 years of observing 1 and 2 year old children learning to talk in their own homes this book charts the month by month growth of the children's vocabulary utterances and use of grammatical structures and evaluates the effect How to Talk so Little Kids Will Listen Joanna Faber, Julie King, 2017-01-10 OVER HALF A MILLION COPIES SOLD A must have resource for anyone who lives or works with young kids with an introduction by Adele Faber coauthor of How to Talk So Kids Will Listen Listen So Kids Will Talk the international mega bestseller The Boston Globe dubbed The Parenting Bible For nearly forty years parents have turned to How to Talk So Kids Will Listen Listen So Kids Will Talk for its respectful and effective solutions to the unending challenges of raising children Now in response to growing demand Adele's daughter Joanna Faber along with Julie King tailor How to Talk's powerful communication skills to parents of children ages two to seven Faber and King each a parenting expert in her own right share their wisdom accumulated over years of conducting How To Talk workshops with parents teachers and pediatricians With a lively combination of storytelling cartoons and observations from their workshops they provide concrete tools and tips that will transform your relationship with the children in your life What do you do with a little kid who won't brush her teeth screams in his car seat pinches the baby refuses to eat vegetables throws books in the library runs rampant in the supermarket Organized by common challenges and conflicts this book is an essential manual of communication strategies including a chapter that addresses the special needs of children with sensory processing and autism spectrum disorders This user friendly guide will empower parents and caregivers of young children to forge rewarding joyful relationships with terrible two year olds truculent three year olds ferocious four year olds foolhardy five year olds self centered six year olds and the occasional semi civilized seven year old And it will help little kids grow into self reliant big kids who are cooperative and connected to their parents teachers siblings and peers Listening to Children Nancy Close, 2002 This book discusses ways of listening and talking to children How to Talk When Kids Won't Listen
