Deep Nature John Pearson, 2009-10 Photographers Linda and Robert Scarth have an incredible eye for that magic moment when small becomes beautiful Matched with patience and skill their eye for magic produces dazzling images of Iowa nature up close Revealing the miniature beauties hidden among the patches of prairie woodland and wetland that remain in Iowa's sadly overdeveloped landscape the seventy five color photographs in Deep Nature give us a breathtaking cross section of the state's smallest inhabitants The Scarths close up images of showy orchis and northern monkshood great spangled fritillary and painted lady red breasted nuthatch and eastern wood pewee ornate box turtle and gray treefrog big bluestem and cotton grass and many other natural wonders look more like paintings than photographs Beginning with an iridescent fly hovering over a neon purple fringed gentian and ending with their iconic image of coneflowers refracted in dewdrops they have created a sparkling jewelbox of images that will make us look at the small world around us with renewed appreciation Attending to the small things in the fabric of nature is the Scarths source of artistic inspiration Taking Walt Whitman's every leaf is a miracle as their beginning they celebrate not only each leaf but each feather insect dewdrop flower lichen and intricate organism in the evolving web of life

A Watershed Year Cornelia F. Mutel, 2010-03-15 In June 2008 the rivers of eastern Iowa rose above their banks to create floods of epic proportions their amazing size flowing in places at a rate nearly double that of the previous record flood and the rapidity of their rise ruined farmlands and displaced thousands of residents and hundreds of businesses In Cedar Rapids the waters inundated more than nine square miles of the downtown area in Iowa City where the flood was also the most destructive in history the University of Iowa's arts campus was destroyed By providing a solid base of scientific and technical information presented with unusual clarity and a wealth of supporting illustrations the contributors to this far reaching book many of whom dealt firsthand with the 2008 floods provide a detailed roadmap of the causes and effects of future devastating floods The twenty five essays fall naturally into four sections Rising Rivers Spreading Waters begins by comparing the 2008 floods with the midwestern floods of 1993 moves on to trace community responses to the 2008 floods and ends by illuminating techniques for forecasting floods and determining their size and frequency Why Here Why Now searches for possible causes of the 2008 floods and of flooding in general annual crops and urban landscapes inflows into and releases from reservoirs and climate change Flood Damages Flood Costs Flood Benefits considers the complex mix of flood costs and effects emphasizing damages to cities and farmlands as well as potential benefits to natural communities and archaeological sites Looking Back Looking Forward lays out approaches to managing the floods of the future that are sure to come While the book draws most of its examples from one particular region it explains flooding throughout a much larger region the midwestern Corn Belt and thus its sobering yet energizing lessons apply well beyond eastern Iowa By examining the relationships among rivers floodplains weather and modern society by stressing matters of science and fact rather than social or policy issues and by addressing multiple environmental problems and benefits A Watershed Year informs and educates all those who experienced the 2008 floods and all those concerned with the larger causes of flooding
