The Life Of A Patron Zhou Lianggong 1612-1672 And The Painters Of Seventeenth century China:

The Life of a Patron Hongnam Kim, 1996 This volume celebrates Zhou Lianggong's legacy to the study of 17th century Chinese painting. A high government official, Zhou Lianggong was unlike other typical connoisseurs of that period. Instead of seeking out works by great artists of the past, he focused on contemporary painters as well as seal carvers. Concerned with preserving their names in history, he recorded their biographies, which he compiled in his books Da Hua Lu (Lives of Painters) and Yinren Zhuan (Lives of Seal Carvers). In this richly illustrated catalog, Dr Kim has compiled valuable information about Zhou's life and writings and thus shed new light on the study of Chinese painting of the 17th century. Chinese Painting and Its Audiences Craig Clunas, 2023-10-17 A history of the reception of Chinese painting from the sixteenth century to the present. What is Chinese painting? When did it begin? And what are the different associations of this term in China and the West? In Chinese Painting and Its Audiences, which is based on the A. W. Mellon Lectures in the Fine Arts given at the National Gallery of Art, leading art historian Craig Clunas draws from a wealth of artistic masterpieces and lesser known pictures, some of them discussed here in English for the first time, to show how Chinese painting has been understood by a range of audiences over five centuries, from the Ming Dynasty to today. Chinese Painting and Its Audiences demonstrates that viewers in China and beyond have irrevocably shaped this great artistic tradition. Arguing that audiences within China were crucially important to the evolution of Chinese painting, Clunas considers how Chinese artists have imagined the reception of their own work. By examining paintings that depict people looking at paintings, he introduces readers to ideal types of viewers: the scholar, the gentleman, the merchant, the nation, and the people. In discussing the changing audiences for Chinese art, Clunas emphasizes that the diversity and quantity of images in Chinese culture make it impossible to generalize definitively about what constitutes Chinese painting. Exploring the complex relationships between works of art and those who look at them, Chinese Painting and Its Audiences sheds new light on how the concept of Chinese painting has been formed and reformed over hundreds of years. Published in association with the Center for Advanced Study in the Visual Arts, National Gallery of Art, Washington DC. Please note: All images in this ebook are presented in black and white and have been reduced in size. The Figurative Works of Chen Hongshou (1599-1652) Tamara Heimarck Bentley, 2012 Despite the importance of Chen Hongshou 1599-1652 as an artist and scholar of the late Ming period, until now no full length study in English has focused on his work. Author Tamara H. Bentley takes a broadly interdisciplinary approach, treating Chen's oeuvre in relation to literary themes and economic changes and linking these larger concerns to visual analyses. In so doing, Bentley sheds new light not only on Chen but also on an important cultural moment in the first half of the seventeenth century when Chinese scholar artists began to direct their work towards anonymous public markets. The Figurative Works of Chen Hongshou (1599-1652) Tamara Heimarck Bentley, 2017-07-05 Despite the importance of Chen Hongshou 1599-1652 as an artist and scholar of the Ming period, until now no full length study in English has focused on his work. Author Tamara H.

Bentley takes a broadly interdisciplinary approach treating Chen's oeuvre in relation to literary themes and economic changes and linking these larger concerns to visual analyses. Considering Chen's paintings and prints alongside Chen's romance drama commentaries and prefaces and his collected writings particularly poetry, Bentley sheds new light not only on Chen but also on an important cultural moment in the first half of the seventeenth century. Through analysis of Chen's figure paintings and print designs, Bentley examines the artist's engagement with the values of authenticity and emotion which were part of a larger discourse stressing idiosyncrasy, the individual voice, and vernacular literature. She contrasts these values with the commercial aspects of his production geared at an expanding art market of well-to-do buyers, excavating the apparent contradiction inherent in the two pursuits. In the end, she suggests the emphasis on the authentic voice was marketed to a broad field of anonymous buyers. Though her primary focus is on Chen Hongshou, Bentley's investigation ultimately concerns not only this individual artist but also the effect of early modern changes on an artist's mode of working and his self-image in the West as well as the East. The study touches upon expanding international trade and the rise of middle-class art markets, including print markets, not only in China but also in the Dutch Republic in circa 1630-1650. Bentley investigates the specific rhetoric of different categories of images, including Chen's non-literal figurative works, literal commemorative portraits, his printed romance drama illustrations, and his printed playing cards. Bentley's investigation takes in issues of studio practice, including various types of image replication.

The Qing Formation in World-Historical Time Lynn Struve, 2020-05-11. For many years, the Ming and Qing dynasties have been grouped as late imperial China, a temporal framework that allows scholars to identify and evaluate indigenous patterns of social, economic, and cultural change initiated in the last century of Ming rule that imparted a particular character to state and society throughout the Qing and into the twentieth century. This paradigm asserts the autonomous character of social change in China and has allowed historians to create a China-centered history. Recently, however, many scholars have begun emphasizing the singular qualities of the Qing. Among the eight contributors to this volume on the formation of the Qing, those who emphasize the Manchu ethos of the Qing tend to see it as part of an early modernity and stress parallel and sometimes mutually reinforcing patterns of political consolidation and cultural integration across Eurasia. Other contributors who examine the Qing formation from the perspective of those who lived through the dynastic transition see the advent of Qing rule as prompting attempts by the Chinese subjects of the new empire to make sense of what they perceived as a historical disjuncture and to rework these understandings into an accommodation to foreign rule. In contrast to the late imperial paradigm, the new ways of configuring the Qing in historical time in both groups of essays assert the singular qualities of the Qing formation.

The Chinese Painter as Poet Jonathan Chaves, 2000. This exhibition explores the poetry-painting relationship in Chinese art, the ways in which the relationship manifested in visual art, and the common themes that have inspired painters and poets throughout Chinese history from the Jin Dynasty 1115 1234 through the 20th century The 36 artworks features paintings calligraphy woodblock printed rare books and objects with inscribed poems Western examples are also presented to enable comparison to be drawn Bringing another important point of view to the study of Chinese painting and demonstrating that the linking of poetry and painting transcends the cultural borders between East and West and between China and Japan this volume shows how that union an ancient tradition remains viable among artists today Chinese Literature, Essays, Articles, Reviews, 2006 Fu Shan's World Qianshen Bai, 2020-03-23 For 1300 years Chinese calligraphy was based on the elegant art of Wang Xizhi A D 303 361 But the seventeenth century emergence of a style modeled on the rough broken epigraphs of ancient bronzes and stone artifacts brought a revolution in calligraphic taste By the eighteenth century this led to the formation of the stele school of calligraphy which continues to shape Chinese calligraphy today A dominant force in this school was the eminent calligrapher and art theorist Fu Shan 1607 1685 Because his work spans the late Ming early Qing divide it is an ideal prism through which to view the transformation in calligraphy Rather than seek a single explanation for the change in calligraphic taste the author demonstrates and analyzes the heterogeneity of the cultural social and political processes behind it Among other subjects the book covers the late Ming interaction between high and low culture the role of publishing the Ming loyalist response to the Qing and early Qing changes in intellectual discourse In addition to the usual approach of art historians it adopts the theoretical perspectives of such fields as material culture print culture and social and intellectual history Treasures from an Unknown Reign Michael Butler, Julia B.
