Katherine Mansfield,1984 V 2 Includes her correspondence from early 1918 to the autumn of 1919 Her love for Middleton Murry her response to the First World War and her acceptance of the inevitable advance of tuberculosis are handled with wit and warmth in a text which has been transcribed afresh from the original letters Volume 3 Covers the eight months she spent in Italy and the South of France between the English summers of 1919 and 1920 It was a time of intense personal reassessment and distress Mansfield s relationship with her husband John Middleton Murry was bitterly tested and most of the letters in this present volume chart that rich and enduring partner ship through its severest trial This was a time too when Mansfield came to terms with the closing off of possibilities that her illness entailed Without flamboyance or fuss she felt it necessary to discard earlier loyalties and even friendships as she sought for a spiritual standpoint that might turn her illness to less negative ends As she put it One must be continually giving while those qualities of her earlier correspondence remain undiminished the precision and directness the intelligence and wit the dark incisiveness as much as sheer fun Above all perhaps these letters comprise a record of very considerable courage against increasingly adverse odds as they approach the final years of her life The fifth and final volume of the Collected Letters of Katherine Mansfield covers the almost thirteen months during which her attention at first was firmly set on a last chance medical cure then finally on something very different if death came to seem inevitable how should one behave in the time that remained so one could truly say one lived Mansfield s biographers like her friends have wondered at the seemingly extraordinary decision to ditch conventional medicine for the bizarre choice of Gurdjieff s Institute for the Harmonious Development of Man at Fontainebleau These letters show the clarity of mind and will that led to that decision the courage and distress in making it and the gaiety even once it was made She went against what her education her husband and most of her friends would regard as reasonable as she opted to spend her last months with Russian migr s and a strange assortment of Gurdjieff disciples which she was not But Fontainebleau give her the space and the incentive to shake free from the intellectualism that she thought the malaise of her time as she worked at kitchen chores took in the details of farm life tried to learn Russian and attempted to reach total honesty with herself If I were allowed one simple cry to God she wrote in one of her last letters that cry would be I want to be REAL Publisher      The Letters of Katherine Mansfield Katherine Mansfield,1929      The Collected Letters of Katherine Mansfield: Volume I: 1903-1917 Katherine Mansfield,1984-09-13      The Letters of Katherine Mansfield Katherine Mansfield,1974      Edinburgh Edition of the Collected Letters of Katherine Mansfield, Volume 2 Gerri Kimber,Claire Davison,2022-03-31 The first volume of this edition of Katherine Mansfield s letters correspondents A J is heavily weighted towards the Beauchamp family and several of her closest friends This second volume quite by chance puts the emphasis far more on Mansfield's literary and intellectual friendships especially members of the Bloomsbury group It includes letters to Sylvia Lynd the Hon Bertrand Russell Sydney and Violet Schiff Lytton Strachey Leonard Woolf Virginia Woolf and Hugh Walpole as well as those individuals who gathered around Lady Ottoline Morrell herself the recipient of one of the largest number of letters in this volume at Garsington Manor With over twenty new letters not published in previous editions of her letters as well substantial revisions and additions to a number of other letters accompanied by thoroughly researched annotations this volume offers many new insights into Mansfield's epistolary relationships

The Collected Letters of Katherine Mansfield: Volume IV: 1920-1921 Katherine Mansfield,1996-03-28 The letters in this volume cover the eighteen months Katherine Mansfield spent in England France and Switzerland from May 1920 to the end of 1921 It is the period of her finest stories and when her life took its most decisive turn There is a subtle but unmistakable change in her expectations a new spiritual insistence that is both elusive and resolute From her Chekovian acceptance that they are cutting down the cherry trees she derives a tough existential directness the little boat enters the dark fearful gulf Nobody listens The shadowy figure rows on One ought to sit still and uncover one's eyes There is a determined push not always successful towards a necessary honesty as much as to artistic achievement while those qualities of her earlier correspondence remain undiminished the precision and directness the intelligence and wit the dark incisiveness as much as sheer fun Above all perhaps these letters comprise a record of very considerable courage against increasingly adverse odds as they approach the final years of her life
