complexity of cruelty and the role it plays in child agency Examining representations of cruel young people in popular texts and popular culture the collected essays demonstrate how gender race and class influence who gets labeled cruel and which actions are viewed as negative aggressive and disruptive It shows how representations of cruel young people negotiate the violence that shadows polite society and how narratives of cruelty and aggression are used to affirm or to deny young people's agency     The New Girl; Or, The Rivals. A Tale of School Life ... Mary E. Gellie, 1879     Romanticism and the Cultures of Infancy Martina Domíne Veliki, Cian Duffy, 2020-08-29 This collection of essays explores the remarkable range and cultural significance of the engagement with infancy during the Romantic period. Taking its point of departure in the commonplace claim that the Romantics invented childhood the book traces that engagement across national boundaries in the visual arts in works of educational theory and natural philosophy and in both fiction and non fiction written for children. Essays authored by scholars from a range of national and disciplinary backgrounds reveal how Romantic period representations of and for children constitute sites of complex discursive interaction where ostensibly unrelated areas of enquiry are brought together through common tropes and topoi associated with infancy. Broadly new historicist in approach but drawing also on influential theoretical descriptions of genre discipline mediation cultural exchange and comparative methodologies the collection also seeks to rethink the idea of a clear cut dichotomy between Enlightenment and Romantic conceptions of infancy     Michaelmas Daisy Sarah Doudney, 1882     Paul Howard's captivity; and why he escaped Emilia Marryat Norris, 1876     Confessions of a Medium CONFESIONS., 1882     John Deane of Nottingham, his adventures William Henry G.
