The Life of Christ. Images From the Metropolitan Museum of Art Barbara Burn,1989      The Life of Christ
Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.),1989 Companion volume to The Christmas story published by Metropolitan Museum of Art      The Life of Christ ,1989      Christian Images and Their Jewish Desecrators Katherine Aron-Beller,2024-01-09 In Christian Images and Their Jewish Desecrators historian Katherine Aron Beller analyzes the common Christian charge that Jews habitually and compulsively violated Christian images identifying this allegation as one that functioned alongside other anti Jewish allegations such as ritual murder blood libel and host desecration to ultimately inform dangerous and long lasting prejudices in medieval and early modern Europe Through an analysis of folk tales myths legal proceedings and religious art Aron Beller finds that narratives alleging that Jews committed violence against images of Christ Mary and the disciples flourished in Europe between the fifth and seventeenth centuries She then explores how these narratives manifested differently across the continent and the centuries finding that their potency reflected not Jewish actions per se but Christians own concerns about slipping into idolatry when viewing depictions of religious figures In addition Aron Beller considers Jews own attitudes toward Christian imagery and the ways in which they responded to and rejected or embraced such allegations By examining how desecration allegations affected Jewish individuals and communities spanning Byzantium medieval England France Germany and early modern Spain and Italy Aron Beller demonstrates that this charge was a powerful expression of the Christian majority s anxiety around committing idolatry and their eagerness to participate in practices of veneration that revolved around visual images an anxiety that evolved through the centuries and persists to this day      Italian Medieval Sculpture in the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Cloisters Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.),Lisbeth Castelnovo-Tedesco,Jack Souldanian,2010 The collection of Italian medieval sculpture in The Metropolitan Museum of Art and The Cloisters began with the acquisition in 1908 of a Romanesque column statue today the Museum s holdings comprise more than seventy works dating from the ninth to the late fifteenth century The birthplaces of these works range from Sicily to Venice some typify local styles others illustrate the intense artistic exchanges taking place within Italy and between Italy and the wider world Technological advances of the last decades have made it possible to determine more precisely the materials and techniques from which works of art are made the history of their alteration and the mechanisms of their deterioration Using such techniques scholars have been able to ascertain for example that sculptures previously thought to be modern works carved in the medieval manner were in fact completely authentic This innovative volume represents a watershed in the study of sculpture a collaborative dialogue between an art historian and a conservator between art history and art science that deepens our understanding of the object we see while illuminating its elusive enigmatic history From publisher s description      Italian treasures in the US Aa.Vv.,2015-10-16T00:00:00+02:00 Italian Treasures in the U S An itinerary of Art is the result of a multifaceted project which began in 2011 the year of the

150th anniversary of Italian unification The aim is to promote Italy's cultural and artistic heritage whose presence is indeed relevant in the United States The Embassy and the network of Italian Consulates and Cultural Institutes in the U S have worked passionately to raise awareness among the Italian and American public Through this passion and hard work Italian masterpieces from 41 museums around the United States were brought together and the collection Italian Treasures in the U S finally came to life It is an extraordinary narrative featuring creativity and beauty a legacy for everyone with Italy as the main protagonist
