The Legendary Joe Meek The Telstar Man:

The Legendary Joe Meek John Reppsch, 2000 A fascinating biography of Joe Meek who was widely recognised as Britain's first real independent pop music producer and hailed as Britain's answer to Phil Spector. He turned out million copy selling records such as Telstar from his home recording studio and made the first recordings for stars like Rod Stewart, Tom Jones and David Bowie. Legendary for his obsessive secrecy and often bizarre behaviour, his private life was a tortured tangle of violence, sex, drugs, the occult and eventually murder. Includes a full discography and B/W photographs. Crime of the Century Angie Moon, 2024-03-28 Crime of the Century is a comprehensive book about classic rock's connections to true crime cases with over twenty true stories of classic rock musicians and their encounters with murderers and musicians who committed murders. Modern Records, Maverick Methods Samantha Bennett, 2018-12-27 From the Fairlight CMI through MIDI to the digital audio workstations at the turn of the millennium, Modern Records, Maverick Methods examines a critical period in commercial popular music record production: the transformative digital age from the late 1970s until 2000. Drawing on a discography of more than 300 recordings across pop, rock, hip hop, dance and alternative musics from artists such as the Beastie Boys, Madonna, U2 and Fatboy Slim, and extensive and exclusive ethnographic work with many world renowned recordists, Modern Records presents a fresh and insightful new perspective on one of the most significant eras in commercial music record production. The book traces the development of significant music technologies through the 1980s and 1990s, revealing how changing attitudes and innovative techniques of recording personnel reimagined recording processes and finally exemplifies the impact of these technologies and techniques via six comprehensive tech processual analyses. This meticulously researched and timely book reveals the complexity of recordists' responses to a technological landscape in flux.

Barfe shows how the 1920s and 1930s saw the departure of Edison from the phonograph business, he created and the birth of EMI and CBS. In the years after the war, these companies and the buccaneers, hucksters, impresarios and con men who ran them reaped stupendous commercial benefits with the arrival of Elvis Presley, who changed popular music and sales of popular music overnight. After Presley came the Beatles, when the recording industry became global and record sales reached all time highs. Where Have All The Good Times Gone also charts the decline from that high point a generation ago. The 1990s ushered in a period of profound crisis and uncertainty in the industry, encapsulated in one word Napster Barfe shows how the almost infinite amounts of free music available online have traumatic and disastrous consequences for an industry that has become cautious and undynamic
