Archaeological Perspectives on the Transmission and Transformation of Culture in the Eastern Mediterranean Joanne Clarke,Joanne Clark,2005 The eastern Mediterranean was the centre of trade for many centuries sitting at the junction of what are now Europe Asia and Africa It was the place where exotic produce and products could be traded or exchanged for things that had their origins perhaps thousands of miles away But wherever trade takes place a similar exchange of ideas technology and culture also occurs This book presents thirty papers on this very subject looking at the ways in which we can measure the transmission of culture and how this transmission varied across time and space Great Britain and the East ,1919 The Archaeology of Death in the Ancient Near East Stuart Campbell,Anthony Green,1995

The conference in Manchester in 1992 which this book came out of was organised to raise the profile of the study of mortuary remains in the Ancient Near East Thirty papers from the conference are published here covering a wide variety of regions and periods from Epipalaeolithic to modern Many different aspects are examined physical anthropology burial goods social structure ethoarchaeology etc This volume has a wide relevance not only to the areas specifically addressed but also in the interpretation of burial remains and the evolution of society How Petra was Built Shaher Moh'd Ahmad

Rababeh,2005 Until now no study has been made of the construction techniques of the Nabataean freestanding buildings and the rock cut monuments of Petra Jordan built from the 1st cent BC to the 2nd cent AD Their technical features were documented by fieldwork and this evidence was then analysed to determine precisely when and why these features appeared or evolved This leads to explaining how the Nabataeans developed their architecture and what types of construction techniques they used to bring Petra s architecture to its peak The historical and geographical context for the architecture of Petra is presented with a summary of previous scholarship on the site The focus moves to the building materials used by the Nabataeans which are found to influence the construction techniques they developed This is followed by a detailed discussion of quarrying and the rock cut techniques The procedures for dressing ashlar blocks and the facades of the rock cut monuments are analysed to determine the tools used by the builders as well as the lifting devices necessary for construction of the freestanding buildings The technical aspects of the construction of walls columns floors the anti seismic and stabilising techniques developed by the Nabataeans are considered Finally the construction of roofs is examined in detail The results of the study reveal the sources of the building techniques used at Petra and why they were further developed there

THREE REVIEWS OF HOW PETRA WAS BUILT J J Coulton Formerly Reader in Classical Archaeology University of Oxford Using his practical experience as an architect as well as extensive and detailed fieldwork Dr Rababeh has provided an illuminating analysis of Nabataean buildings showing how they drew on and modified previous Levantine and Hellenistic methods to suit local materials and local requirements Judith McKenzie author of The Architecture of Petra Other books cover the architectural styles of the monuments of Petra Shaher er Rababeh s is the first to focus on the subject of how they were built both the rock cut tombs and the freestanding buildings He methodically presents the results of months of first hand examination of the evidence Each aspect of building construction is analysed making wide ranging use of recent scholarship on ancient building techniques Just as the Nabataeans made their desert environment habitable with complex water collection systems they refined local Egyptian Greek and Roman construction techniques to suit the city s rose red sandstone and other available building materials Rababeh shows the Nabataean construction techniques were just as distinctive in their details as the style of their architecture which they created from classical Alexandrian and Near Eastern elements. He makes interesting discoveries. The stone cut away when the tombs were carved was used to erect the city's freestanding buildings. Rababeh shows how Petra has the earliest extensive examples of timber used to strengthen stone masonry buildings as later seen on the Ka'ba at Mekka. Ehud Netzer author of Nabataeische Architektur This comprehensive study of the building systems in the Nabataean world is a pioneering work. It deals with all aspects from wall foundations to roof tiles simple constructions and monumental ones freestanding buildings and monuments cut into the rock. Shaher's new book widens our knowledge of the enchanted world of Nabataean architecture. The New Encyclopedia of Archaeological Excavations in the Holy Land Ephraim Stern, 1993 This set covers over 400 archaeological sites in Israel, Jordan and Sinai. Written by 180 leading archaeologists The New Encyclopedia of Archaeological Excavations in the Holy Land is an essential reference tool for archaeologists, historians, Bible scholars and explorers. Arranged alphabetically by site name the volumes cover all periods of human settlement in the Holy Land from the Stone Age to modern times. Publisher
