The Liberation Of Capital German Language Title Das Kapital:

The Liberation of Capital Folkert Wilken,2024-03-01 First published in 1982 The Liberation of Capital develops a challenging and critical confrontation of orthodox and Marxist theories of capital with the unifying concept of free capital human creativity and intellectually derived productivity He argues that progress must include the recognition of the essentially organic nature of the economy and that it will proceed through the level of understanding of all engaged in the development of participation He advocates a variety of practical proposals including the contractual sharing of added value This is a book which everyone interested in industrial participation and capital theory should read whether in the academic world in management in government or on the shop floor National Union Catalog, 1982 ,1983 The Library Catalogs of the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace, Stanford University Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace,1977 Books and the Western World Karl Schottenloher,1989 The famous Bucher bewegten die Welt Eine Kulturgeschichte des Buches 2d ed Verlag Anton Hiersemann 1968 is a rich history of books and publishing and libraries Much attention is devoted to the development of printing and the rise of the great modern research libraries An emphasis is placed throughout on the relationship between political or social movements and libraries Catalog of the Tamiment Institute Library of New York University: Book and pamphlet catalogs Tamiment Library,1980 National Union Catalog Library of Congress,1979 Includes entries for maps and atlases National Union Catalog , Includes entries for maps and atlases Monthly Index of Russian Accessions Library of Congress. Processing Department,1968-07 East European Accessions Index ,1958 Arts & Humanities Citation Index ,1981 A multidisciplinary index covering the journal literature of the arts and humanities It fully covers 1 144 of the world s leading arts and humanities journals and it indexes individually selected relevant items from over 6 800 major science and social science journals Das Kapital: Critique of Political Economy (Part II) Karl Marx,2024-05-09 Das Kapital was printed in three editions by Engels this is the second This volume is subtitled The Circulation Process of Capital The second band volume was printed in Hamburg in 1885 Here he explains his analysis that the sum of commodities W into labor power A and means of production Pm W A Pm is better formulated as W A Pm Das Kapital is so famous the title often remains translated even in English and other languages This work published in three volumes created the intellectual foundation of the greatest genocides ever committed in human history across the 20th century Published posthumously in 1885 by Friedrich Engels from Marx s incomplete drafts Das Kapital Critique of Political Economy Part II Das Kapital Kritik der politischen konomie Buch II subtitled The Circulation of Capital shifts the focus from the immediate process of production to the movement of capital through its various metamorphoses money capital productive capital and commodity capital While less polemical and more schematic than the first volume the second volume retains the philosophical structure shaped by Marx s dialectical inheritance presenting capital not merely as a sequence of transactions but as a living self reproducing totality The movement of capital which appears autonomous and self generating is laid out in circuits that echo Hegel's logic of mediation and return each phase of circulation negating and preserving the previous forming an internally coherent yet opaque system. Though filled with detailed analysis of turnover time, fixed capital and the reproduction of the social aggregate, the metaphysical undertones remain pronounced especially in the treatment of capital as an abstract subject that posits and re-positives itself through the labor and consumption of others. The system described seems to move independently of the individuals within it, drawing them into its rhythmic cycles like a quasi natural law yet one that is historically contingent and ideologically mystified. Here labor continues to function as the hidden core of value but the veil grows thicker: capital now appears as a total social process reified and autonomous but driven by contradictions immanent to its very form. The metaphysics of capital which began as a riddle in the commodity now expands into a self-regulating organism whose dark intelligibility recalls the speculative structure of Hegel's Logic but with the ghost of Geist replaced by the cold necessity of value in motion. This modern Critical Reader's Edition includes an illuminating afterword tracing Marx's intellectual relationships with revolutionary thinkers and philosophers including Hegel, Feuerbach, Engels, and Ricardo, containing unique research into his ideological development and economic metaphysical theories, a comprehensive timeline of his life and works, a glossary of Marxist terminology, and a detailed index of all of Marx's writings. This professional translation renders Marx's dense dialectical prose into modern language to preserve the original force and precision of the text. Combined with the scholarly amplifying material, this edition is an indispensable exploration of Marx's classic works and his enduring Hegelian Protestant influence in the political, religious, economic, and philosophical spheres.

Das Kapital

Karl Marx, Benedikt Kautsky, 1957 Das Kapital: Critique of Political Economy Part I Karl Marx, 2024-05-09 Published in Hamburg in 1867, Das Kapital: Critique of Political Economy Part I (Das Kapital: Kritik der politischen Konomie, Buch I) is the first and only volume of Marx's economic magnum opus completed and published during his lifetime. Subtitled The Process of Production of Capital, the work represents the culmination of over two decades of theoretical development and empirical research, offering a systematic critique of the capitalist mode of production. Though ostensibly economic in focus, the text is architected with a dialectical method that owes as much to Hegelian metaphysics as to Ricardo's classical economics. The commodity is introduced not simply as a unit of trade but as a metaphysical paradox: a thing that contains within it both a use value and an abstract value, a duality that animates the entire logic of capital. Beneath the empirical treatment of factory conditions, surplus value, and labor time, the text unfolds a grim metaphysical drama in which capital, animated by accumulated labor, moves through the world with a spectral autonomy. The famous opening chapters, dense with abstraction, present the commodity form almost as a theological fetish, a secularized idol that mediates all social relations and conceals the origin of its value in human labor. Here the Hegelian logic of inversion, the world turned upside down, reappears in Marx's description of capital as a social relation that presents itself as a thing and labor as a thing that presents itself as a social relation. Value itself becomes a ghostly presence immanent yet invisible, moving according to laws that mirror the abstract

unfolding of Geist in Hegel's system but now grounded in economic life rather than divine reason. What emerges is not only a critique of political economy but a materialist metaphysics of modernity an exorcism of its hidden theological residues in the language of science. This modern Critical Reader's Edition includes an illuminating afterword tracing Marx's intellectual relationships with revolutionary thinkers and philosophers including Hegel, Feuerbach, Engels and Ricardo containing unique research into his ideological development and economic metaphysical theories a comprehensive timeline of his life and works a glossary of Marxist terminology and a detailed index of all of Marx's writings. This professional translation renders Marx's dense dialectical prose into modern language to preserve the original force and precision of the text. Combined with the scholarly amplifying material this edition is an indispensable exploration of Marx's classic works and his enduring Hegelian Protestant influence in the political, religious, economic and philosophical spheres.
