Starmaking Realism Anti Realism And Irrealism:

Starmaking Peter J. McCormick, 1996-06 Starmaking brings together a cluster of work published over the past 35 years by Nelson Goodman and two Harvard colleagues Hilary Putnam and Israel Scheffler on the conceptual connections between monism and pluralism absolutism and relativism and idealism and different notions of realism issues that are central to metaphysics and epistemology The title alludes to Goodman's famous defense of the claim that because all true representations of stars and other objects are human creations it follows that in an important sense the stars themselves are made by us More generally the argument moves from the fact that our right representations are constructed by us to the claim that the world itself is similarly constructed Starmaking addresses the question of whether this seeming paradox can be turned into a serious philosophical view Goodman and Putnam are sympathetic Scheffler is the critic Although many others continue to write about pluralism relativism and constructionalism Starmaking brings together the protagonists in the debate since its beginnings and follows closely its still developing form and substance focusing sharply on Goodman's claim that we make versions and right versions make worlds Social Constructivism and the Philosophy of Science André Kukla, 2013-01-11 Social constructionists maintain that we invent the properties of the world rather than discover them Is reality constructed by our own activity Do we collectively invent the world rather than discover it Andr Kukla presents a comprehensive discussion of the philosophical issues that arise out of this debate analysing the various strengths and weaknesses of a range of constructivist arguments and arguing that current philosophical objections to constructivism are inconclusive However Kukla offers and develops new objections to constructivism distinguishing between the social causes of scientific beliefs and the view that all ascertainable facts are constructed What Do Philosophers of Education Do? Claudia Ruitenberg, 2010-05-18 This volume of essays demonstrates and comments on philosophical methods in educational research Offers a clear picture of what philosophers do when they study education Brings together a series of essays from an international cast of contributors from Canada UK Finland and Cyprus Examines a range of new and established philosophical methods which can be used in educational research Demonstrates how philosophy of education can be understood methodologically Draws from both Continental and Analytical traditions Fills a gap in the research methods literature in education and the social sciences Nietzsche Christoph Cox, 2023-12-22 Nietzsche Naturalism and Interpretation offers a resolution of one of the most vexing problems in Nietzsche scholarship As perhaps the most significant predecessor of more recent attempts to formulate a postmetaphysical epistemology and ontology Nietzsche is considered by many critics to share this problem with his successors How can an antifoundationalist philosophy avoid vicious relativism and legitimate its claim to provide a platform for the critique of arguments practices and institutions Christoph Cox argues that Nietzsche successfully navigates between relativism and dogmatism accepting the naturalistic critique of metaphysics and theology provided by modern science yet maintaining that a thoroughgoing naturalism must move beyond scientific reductionism It must accept a central feature of aesthetic understanding acknowledgment of the primacy and irreducibility of interpretation This view of Nietzsche's doctrines of perspectivism becoming and will to power as products of an overall naturalism balanced by a reciprocal commitment to interpretationism will spur new discussions of epistemology and ontology in contemporary thought Nietzsche Naturalism and Interpretation offers a resolution of one of the most vexing problems in Nietzsche scholarship As perhaps the most significant predecessor of more recent attempts to formulate a postmetaphysical epistemology and ontology Global Intellectual History Samuel Moyn, Andrew Sartori, 2013-06-25 Where do ideas fit into historical accounts that take an expansive global view of human movements and events Teaching scholars of intellectual history to incorporate transnational perspectives into their work while also recommending how to confront the challenges and controversies that may arise this original resource explains the concepts concerns practice and promise of global intellectual history featuring essays by leading scholars on various approaches that are taking shape across the discipline The contributors to Global Intellectual History explore the different ways in which one can think about the production dissemination and circulation of global ideas and ask whether global intellectual history can indeed produce legitimate narratives They discuss how intellectuals and ideas fit within current conceptions of global frames and processes of globalization and proto globalization and they distinguish between ideas of the global and those of the transnational identifying what each contributes to intellectual history A crucial guide this collection sets conceptual coordinates for readers eager to map an emerging area of study Austere Realism Terry Horgan, Matjaž Potrč, 2008 A provocative ontological cum semantic position asserting that the right ontology is austere in its exclusion of numerous common sense and scientific posits and that many statements employing such posits are nonetheless true The authors of Austere Realism describe and defend a provocative ontological cum semantic position asserting that the right ontology is minimal or austere in that it excludes numerous common sense posits and that statements employing such posits are nonetheless true when truth is understood to be semantic correctness under contextually operative semantic standards Terence Horgan and Matjaz Potrc argue that austere realism emerges naturally from consideration of the deep problems within the naive common sense approach to truth and ontology They offer an account of truth that confronts these deep internal problems and is independently plausible contextual semantics which asserts that truth is semantically correct affirmability Under contextual semantics much ordinary and scientific thought and discourse is true because its truth is indirect correspondence to the world After offering further arguments for austere realism and addressing objections to it Horgan and Potrc consider various alternative austere ontologies They advance a specific version they call blobjectivism the view that the right ontology includes only one concrete particular the entire cosmos the blobject which although it has enormous local spatiotemporal variability does not have any proper parts The arguments in Austere Realism are powerfully made and concisely and lucidly set out The authors contentions and their methodological approach products of a decade long collaboration will generate lively debate among scholars in metaphysics ontology and philosophy Nelson Goodman Daniel Cohnitz, Marcus Rossberg, 2014-12-18 Nelson Goodman's acceptance and critique of certain methods and tenets of positivism his defence of nominalism and phenomenalism his formulation of a new riddle of induction his work on notational systems and his analysis of the arts place him at the forefront of the history and development of American philosophy in the twentieth century However outside of America Goodman has been a rather neglected figure In this first book length introduction to his work Cohnitz and Rossberg assess Goodman's lasting contribution to philosophy and show that although some of his views may be now considered unfashionable or unorthodox there is much in Goodman's work that is of significance today The book begins with the grue paradox which exemplifies Goodman's way of dealing with philosophical problems After this the unifying features of Goodman's philosophy are presented his constructivism conventionalism and relativism followed by an discussion of his central work The Structure of Appearance and its significance in the analytic tradition The following chapters present the technical apparatus that underlies his philosophy his mereology and semiotics which provides the background for discussion of Goodman's aesthetics The final chapter examines in greater depth the presuppositions underlying his philosophy Nature's Joints James Samuel Page, 2004 Nelson Goodman and the Case for a Kalological Aesthetics Nikolaos Gkogkas, 2008-07-31 Epistemology delivers truths metaphysics offers realities In this book aesthetics responds philosophically to the question about what one is to make of such truths and realities How to live with them or how to weave them together in the fabric of the self In this sense any aesthetics about art beauty and the like is translatable into a kalology about degrees of meaning and layers of identity The starting point for the book is Nelson Goodman's theory of symbols A theory with modest aspirations that can only serve as an initial step but a step in the right direction Interpretation, Relativism, and the Metaphysics of Culture Michael Krausz, Richard Shusterman, 1999-06 No Marketing Blurb Rorty's Politics of Redescription Gideon Calder, 2007 Richard Rorty is among the most cited influential and notorious of recent philosophers This work addresses Rorty's work in terms of social and political philosophy Hilary Putnam Lance P. Hickey, 2009-04-15 Hilary Putnam is one of America's most important and influential contemporary philosophers He has made considerable contributions to the philosophy of mind philosophy of language philosophy of science philosophy of mathematics logic metaphysics and ethics In many of these areas he has been not only an active participant but a foundational thinker This book offers an overview of Putnam's ideas his key writings and his contributions to the various fields of philosophy Thematically organized the book begins with Putnam's work in the philosophy of language and shows how his theory of s International Encyclopedia of the Social & Behavioral Sciences Neil J. Smelser, Paul B. Baltes, 2001 The largest work ever published in the social and behavioural sciences It contains 4000 signed articles 15 million words of text 90 000 bibliographic references and 150 biographical entries Pragmatism and Philosophical Anthropology Sami Pihlström, 1998 Pragmatism the single originally American philosophical tradition has in recent decades once again become widely discussed in many fields of philosophy including metaphysics epistemology philosophy of science philosophy of religion and moral philosophy This study seeks to show both historically and systematically that the issue of human nature the main problem of philosophical anthropology is or at least should be at the center of pragmatistic philosophizing The author formulates a contemporary version of pragmatism largely based on William James's 1842-1910 work arguing that such a neo-Jamesian framework also can meet postmodernistic and irrationalistic threats

Eco-ethics and Contemporary Philosophical Reflection Peter J. McCormick, 2008 Hilary Putnam Christopher Norris, 2002 In this detailed study Christopher Norris defends the kinds of arguments advanced by the early realist Hilary Putnam Norris makes a point of placing Putnam's work in a wider philosophical context and relating it to various current debates in epistemology and philosophy of science Much like Putnam Norris is willing to take full account of opposed viewpoints while maintaining a vigorously argued commitment to the values of debate and enquiry The Review of Metaphysics, 1997 Encyclopedia of Christian Theology Jean-Yves Lacoste, 2005 The Journal of Philosophy, 1997 Limits of Rightness Michael Krausz, 2000 SCOTT copy 1 From the John Holmes Library collection
