Photography, Natural History and the Nineteenth-Century Museum Kathleen Davidson,2017-12-02 The Victorian era heralded an age of transformation in which momentous changes in the field of natural history coincided with the rise of new visual technologies Concurrently different parts of the British Empire began to more actively claim their right to being acknowledged as indispensable contributors to knowledge and the progress of empire This book addresses the complex relationship between natural history and photography from the 1850s to the 1880s in Britain and its colonies Australia New Zealand and to a lesser extent India Coinciding with the rise of the modern museum photography s arrival was timely and it rapidly became an essential technology for recording and publicising rare objects and valuable collections Also during this period the medium assumed a more significant role in the professional practices and reputations of naturalists than has been previously recognized and it figured increasingly within the expanding specialized networks that were central to the production and dissemination of new knowledge In an interrogation that ranges from the first forays into museum photography and early attempts to document collecting expeditions to the importance of traditional and photographic portraiture for the recognition of scientific discoveries this book not only recasts the parameters of what we actually identify as natural history photography in the Victorian era but also how we understand the very structure of empire in relation to this genre at that time

Mapping the History of Folklore Studies Dace Bula,Sandis Laime,2017-05-11 This collection of articles provides rich and diverse insights into the historical dynamics of folkloristic thought with its shifting geographies shared spaces centres and borderlands By focusing on intellectual collaboration and sharing the volume also reveals the limitations barriers and boundaries inherent in scholarship and scholarly communities Folklore scholars from Estonia Germany Hungary Latvia Lithuania Sweden and the USA reflect upon a range of related questions including To what extent and in what sense can folklore studies be regarded as a shared field of knowledge Which lines of authority have held it together and what forces have led to segmentation How have the hierarchies of intellectual centres and peripheries shifted over time Do national or regional styles of scholarly practice exist in folkloristics The contributors here pay attention to individual personalities the politics and economics of scholarship and forms of communication as meaningful contexts for discussing the dynamics of folklore theory and methods

Islamic Arms and Armor in The Metropolitan Museum of Art David G. Alexander,2015-12-31 Armor and weaponry were central to Islamic culture not only as a means of conquest and the spread of the faith but also as symbols of status wealth and power The finest arms were made by master craftsmen working with the leading designers goldsmiths and jewelers whose work transformed utilitarian military equipment into courtly works of art This book reveals the diversity and artistic quality of one of the most important and encyclopedic collections of its kind in the West The Metropolitan Museum s holdings span ten centuries and include representative pieces from almost every Islamic culture from Spain to the Caucasus The collection includes rare early works among them the oldest documented Islamic sword and is rich in helmets and body armor decorated with calligraphy and arabesques that were worn in Iran and Anatolia in the late fifteenth century Other masterpieces include a jeweled short sword yatagan with a blade of watered steel that comes from the court of S leyman the Magnificent a seventeenth century gold inlaid armor associated with Shah Jahan and two gold inlaid flintlock firearms belonging to the guard of Tipu Sultan of Mysore Presenting 126 objects each handsomely photographed and richly documented with a detailed description and discussion of its technical historical and artistic importance this overview of the Met s holdings is supplemented by an introductory essay on the formation of the collection and appendixes on iconography and on Turkman style armor Ames Library Pamphlet Collection,1875 A collection of monographs related to Indian history and civilization as well as the British experience in India from the 18th through the 20th centuries includes some non Indic material The Bagford Ballads: Illustrating the Last Years of the Stuarts,1878 The Second Exhibition of Prints, from the Collection of T.
