Thomas More's Utopia is one of the most iconic translated and influential texts of the European Renaissance. This Handbook of specially commissioned and original essays brings together for the first time three different ways of thinking about the book in terms of its renaissance contexts its vernacular translations and its utopian legacies. It has been developed to allow readers to consider these different facets of Utopia in relation to each other and to provide fresh and original contributions to our understanding of the book's creation, vernacularization and afterlives. In so doing it provides an integrated overview of More's text as well as new contributions to the range of scholarship and debates that Utopia continues to attract. An especially innovative feature is that it allows readers to follow Utopia across time and place, unpacking the often revolutionary moments that encouraged its translation by new generations of writers as far afield as France, Russia, Japan and China. The Handbook is organized in four sections on different aspects of the origins and contexts of Utopia in the 1510s, on histories of its translation into different vernaculars in the early modern and modern eras and on various manifestations of utopianism up to the present day. The Handbook's Introduction outlines the biography of More, the key strands of interpretation and criticism relating to the text, the structure of the Handbook and some of its recurring themes and issues. An appendix provides an overview of Utopia for readers new to the text.

Institut du Monde Arabe (Paris),2007-01-01 From 828 when Venetian merchants carried home from Alexandria the stolen relics of St Mark to the fall of the Venetian Republic to Napoleon in 1797 the visual arts in Venice were dramatically influenced by Islamic art. Because of its strategic location on the Mediterranean, Venice had long imported objects from the Near East through channels of trade and it flourished during this particular period as a commercial, political and diplomatic hub. This monumental book examines Venice's rise as the bazaar of Europe and how and why the city absorbed artistic and cultural ideas that originated in the Islamic world. Venice and the Islamic World 828-1797 features a wide range of fascinating images and objects including paintings and drawings by familiar Venetian artists such as Bellini, Carpaccio and

Tiepolo beautiful Persian and Ottoman miniatures and inlaid metalwork ceramics lacquer ware gilded and enameled glass textiles and carpets made in the Serene Republic and the Mamluk Ottoman and Safavid Empires Together these exquisite objects illuminate the ways Islamic art inspired Venetian artists while also highlighting Venice's own views toward its neighboring region Fascinating essays by distinguished scholars and conservators offer new historical and technical insights into this unique artistic relationship between East and West
