Consequently, the results of the present study support the hypothesis that the in vitro cytotoxicity of Leptospiral LPS is mainly due to the presence of O19 antigenic determinants.

These findings have important implications for the prevention and treatment of depression. For example, the results suggest that cognitive-behavioral therapy for depression should focus on challenging negative thoughts and beliefs about the self and the future, as well as on developing more positive and realistic self-views.

Other than a few minor differences, the two versions are identical. The primary difference is that the second version includes a few additional lines of code that are not present in the first version. These additional lines of code are used to handle the case where the user enters a character that is not a digit or a decimal point. The first version does not handle this case, which can lead to errors if the user enters a non-numeric character.
