The Counting:

Teaching Mathematics to Deaf Children Terezinha Nunes, 2004-09-24 From an early age deaf children excel in thinking about and remembering what they learn through visual spatial instruction This strength in information processing can be used in the mathematics classroom to achieve better learning outcomes This book discusses ways to teach deaf children about the four arithmetic operations through spatial representation in problem solving Examples for the teaching of fractions and graphs are also included These visual representations are useful to support the children s understanding of mathematical concepts and to promote peer collaboration The teaching programme was tested with deaf children in six schools with excellent results the children in the project made significantly more progress in one school year than expected for either deaf and hearing children over the same time This work was made possible through the generous support of The Nuffield Foundation Proceedings of the Fourth International Congress on Mathematical Education M.

Zweng, Green, Kilpatrick, Pollack, Suydam, 2012-12-06 Henry O Pollak Chairman of the International Program Committee Bell Laboratories Murray Hill New Jersey USA The Fourth International Congress on Mathematics Education was held in Berkeley California USA August 10 16 1980 Previous Congresses were held in Lyons in 1969 Exeter in 1972 and Karlsruhe in 1976 Attendance at Berkeley was about 1800 full and 500 associate members from about 90 countries at least half of these come from outside of North America About 450 persons participated in the program either as speakers or as presiders approximately 40 percent of these came from the U S or Canada There were four plenary addresses they were delivered by Hans Freudenthal on major problems of mathematics education Hermina Sinclair on the relationship between the learning of language and of mathematics Seymour Papert on the computer as carrier of mathematical culture and Hua Loo Keng on popularising and applying mathematical methods George Polya was the honorary president of the Congress illness prevented his planned attendance but he sent a brief presentation entitled Mathematics Improves the Mind There was a full program of speakers panelists debates miniconferences and meetings of working and study groups In addition 18 major projects from around the world were invited to make presentations and various groups representing special areas of concern had the opportunity to meet and to plan their future activities Analysis of Arithmetic for Mathematics Teaching Gaea

Leinhardt, Ralph Putnam, Rosemary A. Hattrup, 2020-11-25 This volume emerges from a partnership between the American Federation of Teachers and the Learning Research and Development Center at the University of Pittsburgh The partnership brought together researchers and expert teachers for intensive dialogue sessions focusing on what each community knows about effective mathematical learning and instruction The chapters deal with the research on and conceptual analysis of specific arithmetic topics addition subtraction multiplication division decimals and fractions or with overarching themes that pervade the early curriculum and constitute the links with the more advanced topics of mathematics intuition number sense and estimation Serving as a link between the communities of cognitive researchers and mathematics educators the book capitalizes on the recent research successes of cognitive science and reviews the literature of the math education community as well     Numerical Cognition and the Epistemology of Arithmetic Markus Pantsar,2024-03-28 Arithmetic is one of the foundations of our educational systems but what exactly is it Numbers are everywhere in our modern societies but what is our knowledge of numbers really about This book provides a philosophical account of arithmetical knowledge that is based on the state of the art empirical studies of numerical cognition It explains how humans have developed arithmetic from humble origins to its modern status as an almost universally possessed knowledge and skill Central to the account is the realisation that while arithmetic is a human creation the development of arithmetic is constrained by our evolutionarily developed cognitive architecture Arithmetic is a sophisticated cultural development but it is ultimately based on abilities with numerosities that we already possess as infants and share with many non human animals Therefore arithmetic is not purely conventional an arbitrary game akin to chess Instead arithmetic is deeply connected to our basic cognitive capacities
