The Convento Della Carita:

A Tour to and from Venice, by the Vaudois and the Tyrol Louisa Stuart Costello, 1846 Staircases James W. P. Campbell, Michael Tutton, 2013-11-07 The staircase dates back to the very beginning of architectural history Virtually every significant building from the ziggurats of ancient Mesopotamia to the present day has not only contained one or more staircases but has celebrated them For such an apparently simple part of a building they have been made in a bewildering variety of forms and from a wide range of materials Every age has sought to out perform the previous to produce ever more spectacular and gravity defying designs Staircases History Repair and Conservation is the first major reference volume devoted entirely to the understanding of staircases and the issues surrounding their repair and conservation Each chapter has been especially written by experts in their respective fields The book is essential reading for professionals and anyone with an interest in staircases It deals with the history dating archaeology surveying and recording engineering curating repair and conservation of the staircase in a single volume No other book offers such a wide range of detail The book is divided into three parts Part 1 covers the history development identification and dating of staircases providing detailed drawings and photographs and an introduction to the scientific techniques available to enable the accurate dating of staircases Part 2 covers the design engineering and maintenance of the staircase giving a clear guide to the latest research into the design of safe staircases and their structural stability Part 3 focuses on the materials commonly used to make stairs detailing the appropriate techniques for their conservation and repair The result is a comprehensive study encompassing considerable and far reaching research which aims to inform our understanding and advance the scholarship of the subject for years to come "Architecture, Art and Identity in Venice and its Territories, 1450?750 " Nebahat Avcioglu, 2017-07-05 Cities are shaped as much by a repertoire of buildings works and objects as by cultural institutions ideas and interactions between forms and practices entangled in identity formations This is particularly true when seen through a city as forceful and splendid as Venice The essays in this volume investigate these connections between art and identity through discussions of patronage space and the dissemination of architectural models and knowledge in Venice its territories and beyond They celebrate Professor Deborah Howard s leading role in fostering a historically grounded and interdisciplinary approach to the art and architecture of Venice Based on an examination and re interpretation of a wide range of archival material and primary sources the contributing authors approach the notion of identity in its many guises as self representation as strong sub currents of spatial strategies as visual and semantic discourses and as political and imperial aspirations Employing interdisciplinary modes of interpretation these studies offer ground breaking analyses of canonical sites and works of art diverse groups of patrons as well as the life and oeuvre of leading architects such as Jacopo Sansovino and Andrea Palladio In so doing they link together citizens and nobles past and present the real and the symbolic space and sound religion and power the city and its parts Venice and the Stato da Mar the Serenissima and the Sublime Port Venice and the
