Law, Religion, Health and Healing in Africa M. Christian Green,Faith Kabata,Fortune Sibanda,2022-12-31 The Covid 19 pandemic was global in its spread and reach as well as in its medical social and economic effects In many respects the global effort to flatten the curve produced a flattening of experience around the world and a striking coincidence of similar experiences in countries the world over The identity simultaneity and uniformity of experience were also manifest in common concerns at the intersection of law and religion in many nations around the world including Africa The lockdowns and closure of religious worship centres churches mosques and religious organisations of all sorts raised questions of freedom of religion and the related concern for freedom of assembly along with concerns about the relation of religion to science and public health religious channels of communication and religious provision of social services

After all health communications and social services are all areas in which African religious organisations play key roles Potential tensions around these issues raised further considerations about the nature of religion state relations the status of religious authority and whether religious and state actors would work together or at odds in addressing the Covid 19 pandemic Asian Medicine and Globalization Joseph S. Alter,2013-03-26 Medical systems function in specific cultural contexts It is common to speak of the medicine of China Japan India and other nation states Yet almost all formalized medical systems claim universal applicability and thus are ready to cross the cultural boundaries that contain them There is a critical tension in theory and practice in the ways regional medical systems are conceptualized as nationalistic or inherently transnational This volume is concerned with questions and problems created by the friction between nationalism and transnationalism at a time when globalization has greatly complicated the notion of cultural political and economic boundedness Offering a range of perspectives the contributors address questions such as How do states concern themselves with the modernization of traditional medicine How does the global hegemony of science enable the nationalist articulation of alternative medicine How do global discourses of science and new age spirituality facilitate the transnationalization of Asian medicine As more and more Asian medical practices cross boundaries into Western culture through the popularity of yoga and herbalism and as Western medicine finds its way east these systems of meaning become inextricably interrelated These essays consider the larger implications of transmissions between cultures
