The Customer Revolution How To Thrive When Customers Are In Control:

The Customer Revolution Patricia B. Seybold, Ronni T. Marshak, Jeffrey M. Lewis, 2001 The changes caused by the Internet revolution in the last six years are the equivalent in scope drama and impact on business to the first 100 years of the Industrial Revolution. If the last six years have changed the face of business so fundamentally what will the next few bring? Those companies on the forefront will be the ones who design an organisation structure, develop a set of business models and have a product portfolio that can be all be altered overnight based on customer behaviour feedback and suggestions. Based on extensive research in North America, Europe and Asia i.e. completely international. Covers many detailed case examples of cutting edge practices by leading companies around the world those in the forefront of their industry.

The Customer Revolution, 2010 Chinese Management in the 'Harmonious Society' Malcolm Warner, Chris Rowley, 2013-10-18 Whither Chinese management The Middle Kingdom has come a long way since the economic reforms were introduced after 1978. As ownership has opened up and has become more fragmented the state owned firms no longer dominate the scene nor does their management model. Managing has also become more complex and diversified as well as more professional. This book asks what the next steps are likely to be and will assess the current directions in which Chinese managers are developing as its economy slows down in the face of global uncertainty. It aims to update previous works in the field covering business and management in these countries. It covers a wide range of topics including banking, competition, employee satisfaction, expatriates, industrial relations, HRM, organization, SMEs, social responsibility, strategic sourcing, trust and so on. The book also asks in which future directions management may be moving in this important part of the international economy. The authors are all experts in their fields and are all based in universities and business schools in countries such as Australia and the UK among others. The work is aimed at undergraduate and postgraduate students in business administration especially those on MBA programmes as well as those studying development, economics, management studies and related courses including lecturers in those subjects. This book was published as a special issue of Asia Pacific Business Review.
