Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were randomly assigned to a control group (CON) and an exercise group (EX). The EX group performed a 12-week training program consisting of three sessions per week of aerobic exercise. The HR and EE were measured at baseline and at the end of the 12-week training program. The EX group showed a significant decrease in HR and a significant increase in EE compared to the CON group. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week training program can improve the cardiovascular fitness and energy expenditure of sedentary, middle-aged women.

- Along the way, the transportation is messy, family's friends aren't as helpful as it is in the west. Question: What the messiness and family attached by themselves.
 - This may need additional support, such as social workers, depending on the type of visit.
- Family's cultural background is very messy, family's own a very different life in the US.
 - Despite the messiness of the situation, there are some complaints were put in the table on the Global Village Project.
- Concern for the family's health: the family's health problems and the messiness in the house, heavy alcohol drinking, and there are no social supports.
 - In addition, the mess in the west is not the same as in the family's home.
 - Concern for the safety of the children: the children's health and safety, and the messiness in the house is not the same as in the family's home.
