The Modern Poetic Sequence Macha Louis Rosenthal, Sally M. Gall, 1983      The Modern Poetic Sequence Macha Louis Rosenthal, Sally M. Gall, 1983      The Contemporary Narrative Poem Steven P. Schneider, 2012-12-15 Over the past thirty years narrative poems have made a comeback against the lyric approach to poetry that has dominated the past century. Drawing on a decade of conferences and critical seminars on the topic The Contemporary Narrative Poem examines this resurgence of narrative and the cultural and literary forces motivating it. Gathering ten essays from poet critics who write from a wide range of perspectives and address a wide range of works, the collection transcends narrow conceptions of narrative, antinarrative, and metanarrative. The authors ask several questions: What formal strategies do recent narrative poems take? What social, cultural, and epistemological issues are raised in such poems? How do contemporary narrative poems differ from modernist narrative poems? In what ways has history been incorporated into the recent narrative poetry? How have poets used the lyric within narrative poems? How do experimental poets redefine narrative itself through their work? And what role does consciousness play in the contemporary narrative poem? The answers they supply will engage every poet and student of poetry.

Gendered Modernisms Margaret Dickie, Thomas Travisano, 2016-11-11 Thirteen original essays on Gertrude Stein, H. D., Marianne Moore, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Laura Riding Jackson, Elizabeth Bishop, Muriel Rukeyser, and Gwendolyn Brooks demonstrate how these women expand the social, textual, and political boundaries of modernism. The collection places these poets in the context of their times, examining the conditions that helped shape their vivid and diverse poetic careers and reconsidering some of the assumptions that have led to their exclusion from the main narratives of modernist poetry. Ultimately, the aim is to enlarge the literary history of the movement for gendered modernism, extending backward to the first years of the century and forward to the beginnings of postmodernism in the 1960s.

The Poetry of Anna Akhmatova Alexandra Harrington, 2006-05-01 This book outlines a fresh and coherent framework for the apprehension of Akhmatova's oeuvre in its totality, seeing her as a poet who moves beyond modernism in her later period. The appeal to postmodernism, which is in itself innovative with regard to Akhmatova studies, also allows exploration of a second problematic issue: how to account for the shift in self-presentation in the later verse and the different concept of poetic self which it advances. This new account of Akhmatova's path to maturity challenges the conventional view of the early Akhmatova as poet in the classical Russian tradition and of the later Akhmatova as paradigmatically modernist.

Classics Transformed in Jewish, Israeli, and Palestinian Receptions, 2025-02-19 Classics Transformed in Jewish, Israeli, and Palestinian Receptions invites the reader to view classical antiquity through the writings of poets, translators, and scholars emerging from modern Jewish diasporas, Mandatory Palestine, and the State of Israel, who engaged with Greek and Roman literary precedents. Whereas these voices have up to now been mostly studied independently of one another as separate fields of research, this volume brings some of these distinct voices who nevertheless share a connection to Greco-Roman antiquity into conversation with one another Taking its cue from the crisis of humanism following the Holocaust the chapters take as their themes the destruction of home displacement and different forms of wandering and homecomings drawing connections to acts of translation and transmission of the classics to form a picture of cultural and textual states of alterity The volume shows that Jewish Israeli and Palestinian responses to the classics are entangled and even complementary despite their different trajectories The chapters included here focus particularly on critical moments in Jewish and Palestinian existence when the reception of classical humanism is closely linked to issues of survival On offer here is a historically grounded investigation into the ways Jews Israelis and Palestinians have used classical antiquity and classical philology to validate their identity in a rapidly changing society

Forms of Expansion Lynn Keller, 1997-08-04 Expanding the boundaries of both genre and gender contemporary American women are writing long poems in a variety of styles that repossess history reconceive female subjectivity and revitalize poetry itself In the first book devoted to long poems by women Lynn Keller explores this rich and evolving body of work offering revealing discussions of the diverse traditions and feminist concerns addressed by poets ranging from Rita Dove and Sharon Doubiago to Judy Grahn Marilyn Hacker and Susan Howe Arguing that women poets no longer feel intimidated by the traditional associations of long poems with the heroic public realm or with great artistic ambition Keller shows how the long poem's openness to sociological anthropological and historical material makes it an ideal mode for exploring women's roles in history and culture In addition the varied forms of long poems from sprawling free verse epics to regular sonnet sequences to highly disjunctive experimental collages make this hybrid genre easily adaptable to diverse visions of feminism and of contemporary poetics
