The Moon An Observing Guide For Backyard Telescopes:

The Moon Michael Kitt,1992 Photographic Atlas of the Moon S. M. Chong,Albert Lim,P. S. Ang,2002-07-25 The Photographic Atlas of the Moon is a day by day photographic guide to observing the features of the Moon through a small telescope Compiled by three keen amateur astronomers each image was produced using a 40cm telescope and high resolution low speed film Whole Moon images are provided for each day of the 29 day lunar cycle with labelled features and accompanying descriptive text Selected lunar features are shown at high magnification to highlight and clearly illustrate certain regions All lunar features are labelled using current IAU terminology A comprehensive set of appendices detail the phases of the Moon give a chronology of lunar selenography and index all lunar features named in the text This atlas is an invaluable reference guide for amateurs engaging in lunar observations with a small telescope Lunar Meteoroid Impacts and How to Observe Them Brian Cudnik,2010-03-10 The genesis of modern searches for observable meteoritic phenomena on the Moon is the paper by Lincoln La Paz in Popular Astronomy magazine in 1938 In it he argued that the absence of observed fashes of meteoritic impacts on the Moon might be interpreted to mean that these bodies are destroyed as luminous meteors in an extremely rarefied lunar atmosphere The paper suggested the possibility of systematic searches for such possible lunar meteors With these concepts in mind I was surprised to note a transient moving bright speck on the Moon on July 10 1941 It appeared to behave very much as a lunar meteor would except that the poorly estimated duration would lead to a strongly hyperbolic heliocentric velocity Thus the idea of systematic searches for both possible lunar meteors and meteoritic impact fashes was born It was appreciated that much time might need to be expended to achieve any positive results Systematic searches were carried out by others and myself chiefly in the years 1945 1965 and became a regular program at the newly founded Association of Lunar and Planetary Observers or ALPO Journal de la Société Royale D'astronomie Du Canada Royal Astronomical Society of Canada,2009 Library catalogue in 1911 31 p appended to v 4 A Guide to Hubble Space Telescope Objects James L. Chen,Adam Chen,2015-07-16 From the authors of How to Find the Apollo Landing Sites this is a guide to connecting the view above with the history of recent scientific discoveries from the Hubble Space Telescope Each selected HST photo is shown with a sky map and a photograph or drawing to illustrate where to find it and how it should appear from a backyard telescope Here is the casual observer s chance to locate the deep space objects visually and appreciate the historic Hubble photos in comparison to what is visible from a backyard telescope HST objects of all types are addressed from Messier objects Caldwell objects and NGC objects and are arranged in terms of what can be seen during the seasons Additionally the reader is given an historical perspective on the work of Edwin Hubble while locating and viewing the deep space objects that changed astronomy forever Countless people have seen the amazing photographs taken by the Hubble Space Telescope But how many people can actually point out where in the sky those objects are Why were these objects chosen to be studied What discoveries were made from the Hubble Space Telescope
