The Miyanmin Human Ecology Of A Papua New Guinea Society:

The Miyanmin George E. B. Morren, 1986 The Miyanmin G. E. B. Morren, 1986 The Miyanmin George E. B. Morren, Jr., 1986 Ecology of Indonesian Papua Part One Andrew J. Marshall, Bruce M. Beehler, 2011-07-19 The Ecology of Papua provides a comprehensive review of current scientific knowledge on all aspects of the natural history of western Indonesian New Guinea Designed for students of conservation environmental workers and academic researchers it is a richly detailed text dense with biogeographical data historical reference and fresh insight on this complicated and marvelous region We hope it will serve to raise awareness of Papua on a global as well as local scale and to catalyze effective conservation of its most precious natural assets New Guinea is the largest and highest tropical island and one of the last great wilderness areas remaining on Earth Papua the western half of New Guinea is noteworthy for its equatorial glaciers its vast forested floodplains its imposing central mountain range its Raja Ampat Archipelago and its several hundred traditional forest dwelling societies One of the wildest places left in the world Papua possesses extraordinary biological and cultural diversity Today Papua s environment is under threat from growing outside pressures to exploit its expansive forests and to develop large plantations of oil palm and biofuels It is important that Papua s leadership balance economic development with good resource management to ensure the long term well being of its culturally diverse populace The Environment in Anthropology Nora Haenn, Richard Wilk, 2006 Presenting ecology and current environmental studies from an anthropological point of view this book gives readers a strong intellectual foundation as well as offering practical tools for solving environmental problems First Fieldwork Laura Zimmer-Tamakoshi, 2018-08-31 First Fieldwork Pacific Anthropology 1960 1985 explores what a generation of anthropologists experienced during their first visits to the field at a time of momentous political changes in Pacific island countries and societies and in anthropology itself Answering some of the same how and why questions found in Terence E Hays Ethnographic Presents Pioneering Anthropologists in the Papua New Guinea Highlands 1993 First Fieldwork begins where that collection left off in the 1950s and covers a broader selection of Pacific Islands societies and topics Chapters range from candid reflections on working with little known peoples to reflexive analyses of adapting research projects and field sites in order to better fit local politics and concerns Included in these accounts are the often harsh emotional and logistical demands placed on fieldworkers and interlocutors as they attempt the work of connecting and achieving mutual understandings Evident throughout is the conviction that fieldwork and what we learn from and write about it are necessary to a robust anthropology By demystifying a phase begun in the mid 1980s when critics considered attempts to describe fieldwork and its relation to ethnography as inevitably biased representations of the unknowable truth First Fieldwork contributes to a renewed interest in experiential and theoretical nuances of fieldwork Looking back on the richest of fieldwork experiences the contributors uncover essential structures and challenges of fieldwork connection context and change What they find is that building relationships and having others include you in their lives once referred to as achieving rapport is determined as much by our subjects as by ourselves As they examine connections made or attempted during first fieldwork and bring to bear subsequent understandings and questions new contexts from which to view and think about their experiences the contributors provide readers with multidimensional perspectives on fieldwork and how it continues to inspire anthropological interpretations and commitment A crucial dimension is change Each chapter is richly detailed in history theirs ours colonial postcolonial and the then and now of theory and practice While change is ever present specifics are not Reflecting back the authors demonstrate how that specificity defined their experiences and ultimately their ethnographic re productions The Oceania Monographs ,1990 Revealing the Invisible Mine Emilia Skrzypek,2020-10-08 Exploring the social complexities of the Frieda River Project in Papua New Guinea this book tells the story of local stakeholder strategies on the eve of industrial development largely from the perspective of the Paiyamo one of the project s so called impact communities Engaging ideas of knowledge belief and personhood it explains how fifty years of encounters with exploration companies shaped the Paiyamo s aspirations made them revisit and re examine their past and develop new strategies to move towards a better more prosperous future
