The Mishnah Oral Traditions Of Judaism:

Judaism and Christianity Alan Jeffery Avery-Peck, Jacob Neusner, 2009 This volume treats the interrelationship between Judaism and Christianity from the first centuries and into modern times paying particular attention to these faiths' social, cultural, and theological interactions. The issues covered range from the formation of Jewish and Christian ideology in the context of Roman paganism to the ways in which Christian culture and theology of the medieval and modern periods form a backdrop to the creation of Jewish identity. While the historical periods and issues discussed are diverse, the result is to suggest the importance of recognizing the close development of Judaism and Christianity. Written by top scholars in Judaic and Christian studies, these essays reflect on how the two faiths related to and were shaped by each other as they evolved in shared historical and cultural contexts even as each maintained its own distinctive ideologies and beliefs.

Torah in the Mouth Martin S. Jaffee, 2001-04-19 The classical Rabbinic tradition legal, discursive, and exegetical claims to be Oral Torah transmitted by word of mouth in an unbroken chain deriving its authority ultimately from divine revelation to Moses at Sinai. Since the third century C.E., however, this tradition has been embodied in written texts. Through judicious deployment and analysis of the evidence, Martin Jaffee is able to show that the Rabbinic tradition as we have it developed through a mutual interpretation of oral and written modes.
