The Mountains Of Erewhon:

The Mountains of Erewhon Thomas Naylor Beckett, 1978-01-01 The Mountain World Gregory McNamee, 2003 An extraordinary collection of mountain writing spanning five continents 2 500 years and numerous genres including poetry myth folktale and short story The Book of the Mountains, Being a Collection of Writings about the Mountains in All Their Aspects Auguste C. Spector, 1955 Hope at Sea Teresa Shewry, 2015-09-16 As far back as Thomas More's Utopia and Francis Bacon's New Atlantis the Pacific Ocean has inspired literary creations of promising worlds Hope at Sea asks how literary writers have more recently conceived the future of ocean living In doing so it provides a new perspective on art and imagination in the face of enormous environmental change Drawing together ecocriticism theories of hope and literary analysis this book explores how literary writers evoke hope in engaging with environmental upheavals that are reshaping life in the Pacific Ocean Teresa Shewry considers contemporary poetry short stories novels art and journalistic pieces from Australia New Zealand Hawai'i and other ocean sites examining their imaginative accounts of present life and future living in places where humans coexist with environmental loss rivers that no longer reach the sea dwindling populations of ocean life the effects of nuclear weapons testing and more These works are connected by their views of a future that includes hope Until now hope has never been theorized in a direct sustained way in ecocriticism Hope at Sea makes an argument for hope as a lens for creative and critical confrontation with environmental disruptions and the resulting sense of loss It also reflects on the critical approaches that hope as an analytic category opens up for the study of environmental literature With hope as a critical perspective Shewry develops a method for reading environmental literature literary writers create new ways to apprehend existing environmental realities and craft stories about seas forests cities and rivers that could be not as literal plans but as ways of imagining promising lives in the present world and in the world to come Samuel Butler, Victorian Against the Grain James G. Paradis, 2007-12-29 Samuel Butler 1835 1902 Victorian satirist critic and visual artist possessed one of the most original and inquiring imaginations of his age The author of two satires Erewhon 1872 and The Way of All Flesh 1903 Butler's intellectually adventurous explorations along the cultural frontiers of his time appeared in volume after eccentric volume Author of four works on evolution he was one of the most prolific evolutionary speculators of his time He was an innovative travel writer and art historian who used the creative insights of his own painting photography and local knowledge to invent in works like Alps and Sanctuaries 1881 a vibrant Italian culture that contrasted with the spiritually frigid experience of his High Church upbringing Despite his range and achievement there remains surprisingly little contemporary analytical commentary on Butler's work Samuel Butler Victorian against the Grain is an interdisciplinary collection of essays that provides a critical overview of Butler's career one which places his multifaceted body of work within the cultural framework of the Victorian age The essays taken together discuss the formation of Victorian England's ultimate polymath an artistic and intellectual ventriloquist who assumed an extraordinary range of roles as satirist
