Star Trek The Motion Picture The Photostory:

Why TV Is Not Our Fault Eileen R. Meehan, 2005-11-03 For more than five decades we've been told by pundits commentators advertisers scholars and politicians that television is both a window on the world and a mirror reflecting our culture We've been led to believe that it shows us the world's events through news programs and through entertainment programs reflects the preferences values beliefs and understandings shared by most Americans We're told that if you don't like what you see on TV don't blame the industry blame yourself This book dispels the myth that the television industry is just giving viewers the programming they want to see and thus we as viewers are responsible for the existence of shows like Fear Factor and yet another Survivor In fact Eileen Meehan explains viewers exert no demand in the market for ratings advertising slots program production or telecasting She also counters the idea that TV programs reflect our culture directly Introducing us to the political economy of television Meehan covers programming corporate strategies advertising the misnomer of competition among networks and organizations that seek more industry accountability She tells us why TV isn't our fault_ and who's really to blame
