Starting Out Right National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Behavioral, Cognitive, and Sensory Sciences, Committee on the Prevention of Reading Difficulties in Young Children, 2000-01-28 A devastatingly large number of people in America cannot read as well as they need for success in life. With literacy problems plaguing as many as four in ten children in America this book discusses how best to help children succeed in reading. This book identifies the most important questions and explores the authoritative answers on the topic of how children can grow into readers including: What are the key elements all children need in order to become good readers? What can parents and caregivers provide all children so that they are prepared for reading instruction by the time that they get to school? What concepts about language and literacy should be included in beginning reading instruction? How can we prevent reading difficulties starting with infants and into the early grades? What to ask school boards, principals, elected officials and other policy makers who make decisions regarding early reading instruction. You'll find out how to help youngsters build word recognition, avoid comprehension problems and more with checklists of specific accomplishments to be expected at different ages for very young children, for kindergarten students and for first, second and third grade students. Included are 55 activities to do with children to help them become successful readers, a list of recommended children's books and a guide to CD ROMs and websites. Great strides have been made recently toward identifying the best ways to teach children to read. Starting Out Right provides a wealth of knowledge based on a summary of extensive research. It is a must-read for specialists in primary education as well as parents, pediatricians, child care providers, tutors, literacy advocates, policy makers and teachers.

Starting Up Lisa Arrastia, Marvin Hoffman, 2015-04-24 Starting Up is a collection of first person accounts by some of the best known founders of new schools in America. Providing the kind of knowledge that only experience can teach, it is an invaluable resource for anyone in the process of or thinking about opening a new school as well as those interested in the politics of today's era of new school development. The authors share how they worked to make their educational aspirations a reality while wrestling with social and economic obstacles such as the distressed state of the communities in which these schools operated and the constant competition for resources. Starting Up tells real stories that capture the rich sense of possibility that currently exists for urban education. Book Features: Behind the scenes accounts from the founders of innovative K-12 schools created to better serve primarily poor communities across the country. Lessons learned from school leaders including both the rewards and challenges associated with starting a new school. An introduction by Pedro Noguera that situates start-ups within current economic and political realities. Lisa Arrastia is the middle school principal at United Nations International School in New York. Her work in the classroom is the focus of the Emmy-nominated PBS documentary Making the Grade. Marvin Hoffman is the founding director of The University of Chicago Charter School North Kenwood-Oakland campus and the associate director of the University's Urban Teacher Education Program. These are educators who recognize that although urban public schools are often deeply flawed and dysfunctional they don't have to be and they are educators who act on the belief that it is possible to create schools that nurture and support the hopes and aspirations of those they serve From the Foreword by Pedro Noguera New York University How might we reimagine our schools This book offers a guide from those who have experienced firsthand the trials and tribulations of trying to create a school from the bottom up It asks all the right questions both the practical and the pedagogical It feels like essential reading as we reconsider how our urban schools should look and function Alex Kotlowitz bestselling author of There Are No Children Here and The Other Side of the River
