Standing Female Nude:

Standing Female Nude Carol Ann Duffy, 2016-10-20 Carol Ann Duffy's outstanding first collection Standing Female Nude introduced readers to all they would come to love about her poetry. From lovers to wives to war photographers, the poems it contains range from the delicately poignant to the fiercely political, exploring memory, gender, childhood, and place. Within it are also some of her best-known poems, including Education for Leisure, as well as, of course, the poem from which the collection takes its title. First published in 1985 to widespread critical acclaim, Standing Female Nude is a work of startling originality and the starting point of the Poet Laureate's dazzling poetic career. 'Choosing Tough Words' Angelica Michelis, Antony Rowland, 2003 If the post of Poet Laureate was allocated on the basis of popularity, Carol Ann Duffy would have been the first woman to hold this prestigious post. Like Philip Larkin in his day, Duffy is both a poet respected by many academics and teachers and widely read and enjoyed by children and adult readers of poetry. This is the first full-length collection of essays on the poetry of Carol Ann Duffy, approaching and exploring her work from a variety of literary, theoretical perspectives, including feminism, masculinity, national identity, and post-structuralism. This lively anthology situates Duffy's poems in relation to current debates about the state, value, and social relevance of contemporary British poetry.

The Male Gaze versus Female Self-Determination in Ekphrastic Poetry Julianne Amthor, 2015-10-06 Essay from the year 2015 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Genres, grade 1-3. Free University of Berlin, Institut für englische Philologie, course Ekphrasis: Theory and Practice, language English, abstract: This essay examines the confrontation of the male gaze with female self-determination in ekphrastic poetry, using the poem Standing Female Nude by Carol Ann Duffy as an example. The main aim of the essay is to show how ekphrasis and its specific features serve as a space in which gender conflicts are debated in the realm of aesthetics and how the emergence of a distinctive female ekphrastic mode. Kennedy 2012: 90 led to a shift from masculine dominance towards female power in the genre. In a first step, a definition of ekphrasis will be given, and we will argue the case for why certain characteristics make ekphrasis particularly suitable for exhibiting the male gaze. Subsequently, in a second step, we will demonstrate to what extent female writers have modified the conventions of ekphrasis and challenged its traditional gender relations to suit their own need for self-determination. Carol Ann Duffy's poem Standing Female Nude (1985) will serve as an example for feminist ekphrasis.
