Stardust In The Wind:

Sky's Witness C. L. Rawlins, 2014-09-30 Poet Rawlins presents an exhilarating account of his work for the Forest Service in remote and rugged regions of the Continental Divide Publishers Weekly Thoreau joked that he was a self appointed inspector of snowstorms and rainstorms never dreaming that such a need might exist But such is the author's work and that of his various helpers from ski bums to shortstops They travel the alpine wilderness at all seasons by touring skis snowshoes pack llamas float tubes and a tiny but dependable rat The remote mountain beauty where thoughts stretch for miles and days would be enough but C L Rawlins is after something more He's a backcountry hydrologist collecting rain snow and the water of high lakes to measure air pollution Alongside Rawlins we discover the natural history of the central Rockies the flowering of plants and the ways of mountain animals We learn how the Shoshoni lived in this harsh country before the arrival of settlers We see also the effect of twentieth century living on a wilderness that feels pristine but bears the chemical trace of distant smokestacks and freeways With a style that roams between natural observation and personal essay Rawlins's Sky's Witness gives access not only to the wilderness but to the ways in which we know ourselves Whether as guide storyteller geologist historian or keen observer of the seasons he shows in his mundane activities the value of the wilderness Readers will be persuaded by his tale and delighted by his company Library Journal The American Racing Pigeon News, 1973
