Creation and the Function of Art Jason Tuckwell,2017-11-30 Returning to the Greek understanding of art to rethink its capacities Creation and the Function of Art focuses on the relationship between techn and phusis nature Moving away from the theoretical Platonism which dominates contemporary understandings of art this book instead reinvigorates Aristotelian causation Beginning with the Greek topos and turning to insights from philosophy pure mathematics psychoanalysis and biology Jason Tuckwell re problematises techn in functional terms This book examines the deviations at play within logical forms the subject and upon phusis to better situate the role of the function in poiesis art In so doing Tuckwell argues that art concerns a genuinely creative labour that cannot be resolved via an ontological or epistemological problem but which instead constitutes an encounter with the problematic As such techn is shown to be a property of the living of intelligence coupled to action that not only enacts poiesis or art but indicates a broader role for creative deviation in nature

Developed in the 1990s the concept of fair and equitable benefit sharing has been deployed in an ever wider variety of international instruments including those on biodiversity climate change and human rights. A lack of clarity persists however on what fair and equitable benefit sharing requires and entails and whether its implementation supports or eventually undermines equity and justice. This book examines these questions in the area of land food and agriculture addressing for the first time several instances of the agricultural production chain including research and development land governance and land use and access to markets. It identifies challenges regarding implementation of the concept as enshrined in environmental treaties and soft law instruments with a focus on the International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture the Voluntary Guidelines on Tenure and the UN Declaration on the Rights of Peasants. It investigates its role enabling conditions and limitations in a contradictory policy context involving environmental food security and human rights objectives but also a growing web of multilateral and bilateral trade and investment agreements. Linking international law research with a socio legal analysis the book addresses four grassroots examples which offer ideas for institutional and legal innovation from the local to the global level. This interdisciplinary title will be of great interest to students and scholars of international environmental law agriculture land law development studies and global governance as well as policymakers and practitioners working in these fields.
