Social Work as Community Development Stephen Clarke, 2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2000 The second edition of Social Work as Community Development is thoroughly revised and updated taking into account lessons from community development and international experiences applicable in developed economies The application of system theory to the problems of managing change is the core theme The book will be essential reading for the UK DipSW MScEcon in Applied Social Studies and MScEcon in Community Care Studies as well as for students of community development and social work in the USA Asia and Australia It will also be useful for practitioners and policy makers across social work social welfare and social policy      Decolonizing Social Work Mel Gray, John Coates, Michael Yellow Bird, Tiani

Hetherington, 2016-05-13 Riding on the success of Indigenous Social Work Around the World this book provides case studies to further scholarship on decolonization a major analytical and activist paradigm among many of the world's Indigenous Peoples including educators tribal leaders activists scholars politicians and citizens at the grassroots level Decolonization seeks to weaken the effects of colonialism and create opportunities to promote traditional practices in contemporary settings Establishing language and cultural programs honouring land claims teaching Indigenous history science and ways of knowing self esteem programs celebrating ceremonies restoring traditional parenting approaches tribal rites of passage traditional foods and helping and healing using tribal approaches are central to decolonization These insights are brought to the arena of international social work still dominated by western based approaches Decolonization draws attention to the effects of globalization and the universalization of education methods of practice and international development that fail to embrace and recognize local knowledges and methods In this volume Indigenous and non Indigenous social work scholars examine local cultures beliefs values and practices as central to decolonization Supported by a growing interest in spirituality and ecological awareness in international social work they interrogate trends issues and debates in Indigenous social work theory practice methods and education models including a section on Indigenous research approaches The diversity of perspectives decolonizing methodologies and the shared struggle to provide effective professional social work interventions is reflected in the international nature of the subject matter and in the mix of contributors who write from their contexts in different countries and cultures including Australia Canada Cuba Japan Jordan Mexico New Zealand South Africa and the USA      Journal of Human Services Abstracts , 1980      Core Social Work Willem Blok, 2012-02-15 An introduction to social work from an international perspective outlining the shared values principles and knowledge base of social work around the world Basic theory the position and functions of social work in society and international social work documents are examined and the future developments of the profession are discussed      Resources in Education , 1977      Subject

Guide to Books in Print , 1991      Transforming the City Marion Orr, 2007 A path breaking book the first to examine the evolution of community organizing in U S cities While embracing mobilization the contributors acknowledge the challenges inherent in globalization and the norms and values that shape contemporary American culture Still they reaffirm that community organizing has an important role to play as part of a broader progressive movement

Foundations of Social Work Practice in the Field of Aging Roberta Rubin Greene,2007 The aging of societies is a global phenomenon In the United States alone the life expectancy for both men and women will continue to increase over the next few decades and with that a population explosion of older adults The dramatic increase in the number and diversity of older adults elevates the visibility of gerontological matters As a result social work practice is becoming more multigenerational thereby demanding social workers regardless of their professional endeavors to be equipped with the most innovative theories and practices to serve older adults and their families This comprehensive text spans the new knowledge and skills required in direct practice areas group work and macro practice It also outlines the Geriatric Social Work Competencies as developed by social work educators necessary to serve the older adult population and suggests how these competencies can be integrated into foundation curriculum Social work educators students practitioners administrators and policymakers will find updated useful information in this text regarding assessment tools cultural influences evidence based practices intervention techniques theoretical examples Individuals are living longer and healthier lives in part because of the extraordinary growth of biomedical knowledge and public health initiatives The confluence of the rapid and large increase of the older population and the exponential increase in the dissemination of knowledge create an imperative for social workers to employ the most recent knowledge in their practice with people living increasingly long lives JoAnn Damron Rodriguez Department of Social Welfare University of California Los Angeles
