 Brake, 1975 Recession unemployment poverty urban decay delinquency vandalism alienation and inadequacy are everywhere evident in the advanced industrial countries The role of welfare agencies in ameliorating the less pleasant symptoms of western society is widely recognized as crucial to its preservation Social workers the frontline agents of the welfare state may well find that paradoxically the justification of their profession lies in the maintenance of a social and economic system that is the cause of the ills they are employed to confront and to which their everyday experience renders them fundamentally opposed These essays are radical because they explore ways in which social ills may be cured rather than concealed They challenge the relevance and long term effectiveness of received ideas in social work and social work education many of which remain rooted in the rapacious benevolence of Victorian philanthropy The authors attempt to formulate codes and practices that may provide more realistic solutions to the problems of the socially unfit At the same time they consider the questions that all social workers whether students or professionals radical or neutral must at some stage ask themselves How far can the needs of the single member be subsumed in the interests of his community How far can the requirements of political organization and conscientization of the oppressed override the immediate need to salve the distress of one family or individual How far can the means be sacrificed to the end      Foundations of Social Work

 States alone the life expectancy for both men and women will continue to increase over the next few decades and with that a population explosion of older adults The dramatic increase in the number and diversity of older adults elevates the visibility of gerontological matters As a result social work practice is becoming more multigenerational thereby demanding social workers regardless of their professional endeavors to be equipped with the most innovative theories and practices to serve older adults and their families This comprehensive text spans the new knowledge and skills required in direct practice areas group work and macro practice It also outlines the Geriatric Social Work Competencies as developed by social work educators necessary to serve the older adult population and suggests how these competencies can be integrated into foundation curriculum Social work educators students practitioners administrators and policymakers will find updated useful information in this text regarding assessment tools cultural influences evidence based practices intervention techniques theoretical examples Individuals are living longer and healthier lives in part because of the extraordinary growth of biomedical knowledge and public health initiatives The confluence of the rapid and large increase of the older population and the exponential increase in the dissemination of knowledge create an imperative for social workers to employ the most recent
