The Body:

Human Rights and the Body Dr Annabelle Mooney, 2014-09-28 Human Rights and the Body is a response to the crisis in human rights to the very real concern that without a secure foundation for the concept of human rights their very existence is threatened While there has been consideration of the discourses of human rights and the way in which the body is written upon research in linguistics has not yet been fully brought to bear on either human rights or the body Drawing on legal concepts and aspects of the law of human rights Mooney aims to provide a universally defensible set of human rights and a foundation or rather a frame for them She argues that the proper frames for human rights are firstly the human body seen as an index reliant on the natural world secondly the globe and finally language These three frames generate rights to food water sleep and shelter environmental protection and a right against dehumanization This book is essential reading for researchers and graduate students in the fields of human rights and semiotics of law Rethinking the Body in South Asian Traditions Diana Dimitrova, 2020-12-14 This book analyses cultural questions related to representations of the body in South Asian traditions human perceptions and attitudes toward the body in religious and cultural contexts as well as the processes of interpreting notions of the body in religious and literary texts Utilising an interdisciplinary perspective by means of textual study and ideological analysis anthropological analysis and phenomenological analysis the book explores both insider and outsider perspectives and issues related to the body from the 2nd century CE up to the present day Chapters assess various aspects of the body including processes of embodiment and questions of mythologizing the divine body and othering the human body as revealed in the literatures and cultures of South Asia The book analyses notions of mythologizing and othering of the body as a powerful ideological discourse which empowers or marginalizes at all levels of the human condition Offering a deep insight into the study of religion and issues of the body in South Asian literature religion and culture this book will be of interest to academics in the fields of South Asian studies South Asian religions South Asian literatures cultural studies philosophy and comparative literature The Body Project Joan Jacobs Brumberg, 2010-06-09 The award winning author of Fasting Girls explores what teenage girls have lost in this new world of freedom and consumerism a world in which the body is their primary project Fascinating riveting Women and girls should read this fine book together The New York Times Book Review A hundred years ago women were lacing themselves into corsets and teaching their daughters to do the same The ideal of the day however was inner beauty a focus on good deeds and a pure heart Today American women have more social choices and personal freedom than ever before But fifty three percent of our girls are dissatisfied with their bodies by the age of thirteen and many begin a pattern of weight obsession and dieting as early as eight or nine Why In The Body Project historian Joan Jacobs Brumberg answers this question drawing on diary excerpts and media images from 1830 to the present Tracing girls attitudes toward topics ranging from breast size and menstruation to hair clothing and cosmetics she exposes the shift from the Victorian concern with character to our modern focus on outward appearance in particular the desire to be model thin and sexy Compassionate insightful and gracefully written The Body Project explores the gains and losses adolescent girls have inherited since they shed the corset and the ideal of virginity for a new world of sexual freedom and consumerism a world in which the body is their primary project Food, the Body and the Self Deborah

Lupton,1996-04-25 In this wide ranging and thought provoking analysis of the sociocultural and personal meanings of food and eating Deborah Lupton explores the relationship between food and embodiment the emotions and subjectivity She includes discussion of the intertwining of food meaning and culture in the context of childhood and the family as well as the gendered social construction of foodstuffs food tastes dislikes and preferences the dining out experience spirituality and the civilized body She draws on diverse sources including representations of food and eating in film literature advertising gourmet magazines news reports and public health literature and her own empirical research into people s preferences memories experiences
