The Mulberry Tree Elizabeth Bowen, 2015-06-11 This selection of Bowen's non-fictional writings includes her wonderfully funny precise recollections of schooldays and childhood experiences her brilliant evocations of London in wartime and of the Irish big house and penetrating accounts of some of her most famous contemporaries It also contains her autobiography posthumously published and left tantalising unfinished a little known portrait of a beloved family servant and unpublished letters to close friends as Virginia Woolf and William Plomer written with as much elegance and energy as her public writing In her introduction Hermoine Lee shows how these writings display the same interests as Elizabeth Bowen's fiction in Anglo Irish dispossession and ambivalence in the persistence of childhood feelings in treachery ghosts and the mysterious power of place the lure of nostalgia and the clash between individual and society

THE Metaphysics of Dante's Comedy Christian Moevs, 2005-03-17 Dante's metaphysics his understanding of reality is very different from our own To present Dante's ideas about the cosmos or God or salvation or history or poetry within the context of post Enlightenment presuppositions as is usually done is thus to capture only imperfectly the essence of those ideas The recovery of Dante's metaphysics is essential argues Christian Moevs if we are to resolve what has been called the central problem in the interpretation of the Comedy That problem is what to make of the Comedy's claim to the status of revelation vision or experiential record as something more than imaginative literature In this book Moevs offers the first sustained treatment of the metaphysical picture that grounds and motivates the Comedy and of the relation between those metaphysics and Dante's poetics. He carries this out through a detailed examination of three notoriously complex cantos of the Paradiso read against the background of the Neoplatonic and Aristotelian tradition from which they arise. Moevs finds the key to the Comedy's metaphysics and poetics in the concept of creation which implies three fundamental insights into the nature of reality: 1. The world finite being is radically contingent, dependent at every instant on what gives it being; 2. The relation between the world and the ground of its being is non-dualistic; God is not a thing and there is nothing the world is made of; 3. Human beings are radically free, unbound by the limits of nature and thus can find all of time and space within themselves. These insights are the foundation of the pilgrim Dante's journey from the center of the world to the Empyrean which contains it. For Dante in sum what we perceive as reality, the spatio-temporal world, is a creation or projection of conscious being which can only be known as oneself. Moevs argues that self-knowledge is in fact the keystone of the Aristotelian and Neoplatonic philosophical tradition and the essence of the Christian revelation in which that tradition culminates. Armed with this new understanding, Moevs is able to shed light on a series of perennial issues in the interpretation of the Comedy. In particular, it becomes clear that poetry coincides with theology and philosophy in the poem. Dante poeta cannot be distinguished from Dante theologus.
