The Building Of Cities:

The Building of Cities Harlean James, 1917 Creating Cities/Building Cities Peter Karl Kresl, Daniele Ietri, 2017-12-29 For the past 150 years architecture has been a significant tool in the hands of city planners and leaders In Creating Cities Building Cities Peter Karl Kresl and Daniele Ietri illustrate how these planners and leaders have utilized architecture to achieve a variety of aims influencing the situation perception and competitiveness of their cities Building Cities That Work Edmund P. Fowler, 1990-07-01 Using Jane Jacobs critique of postwar city building as a starting point Fowler shows that recent North American urban development has been characterized by development projects on a massive scale an indiscriminate use of vast areas of land and an increasingly evident homogeneity These are characteristics Fowler argues of a perverse and unnatural way of building that is wrecking the planet and enfeebling our social and political networks In exploring how the built environment contributes to social problems Fowler used Toronto as a case study conducting extensive field work in nineteen areas of the city He shows not only that postwar building was the result of conscious public policy but goes further arguing that our cities reflect deep seated insecurities and cultural malaise in surprisingly direct ways The Art of Building Cities Camillo Sitte, This classic is organized as follows I The Relationship Between Buildings Monuments and Public Squares II Open Centers of Public Places III The Enclosed Character of the Public Square IV The Form and Expanse of Public Squares V The Irregularity of Ancient Public Squares VI Groups of Public Squares VII Arrangement of Public Squares in Northern Europe VIII The Artless and Prosaic Character of Modern City Planning IX Modern Systems X Modern Limitations on Art in City Planning XI Improved Modern Systems XII Artistic Principles in City Planning An Illustration XIII Conclusion The Routledge Handbook of Architecture, Urban Space and Politics, Volume II Nikolina Bobic, Farzaneh Haghighi, 2024-11-22 Architecture and the urban are connected to challenges around violence security race and ideology spectacle and data The first volume of this handbook extensively explored these oppressive roles This second volume illustrates that escaping the corporatized and bureaucratized orders of power techno managerial and consumer oriented capitalist economic models is more urgent and necessary than ever before Herein lies the political role of architecture and urban space including the ways through which they can be transformed and alternative political realities constituted The volume explores the methods and spatial practices required to activate the political dimension and the possibility for alternative practices to operate in the existing oppressive systems while not being swallowed by these structures Fostering new political consciousness is explored in terms of the following themes Events and Dissidence Biopolitics Ethics and Desire Climate and Ecology Urban Commons and Social Participation Marginalities and Postcolonialism Volume II embraces engagement across disciplines and offers a wide range of projects and critical analyses across the so called Global North and South This multidisciplinary collection of 36 chapters provides the reader with an extensive resource of case studies and ways of thinking for architecture and urban space to become more emancipatory

The Standard, 1894 House documents, 1884 Architecture, Urban Space and War Mirjana Ristic, 2018-07-18 This book investigates architectural and urban dimensions of the ethnic nationalist conflict in Sarajevo the capital of Bosnia and Herzegovina during and after the siege of 1992-1995. Focusing on the wartime destruction of a portion of the cityscape in central Sarajevo and its post-war reconstruction, re-inscription and memorialization, the book reveals how such spatial transformations become complicit in the struggle for reconfiguration of the city's territory, boundaries and place identity. Drawing on original research, the study highlights the capacities of architecture and urban space to mediate terror, violence and resistance and to deal with heritage of the war and act as a catalyst for ethnic segregation or reconciliation. Based on a multi-disciplinary methodological approach grounded in architectural and urban theory, the spatial turn in critical social theory and assemblage thinking, as well as techniques of spatial analysis, in particular morphological mapping, the book provides an innovative spatial framework for analyzing the political role of contemporary cities.

Lippincott's Monthly Magazine, 1893 Working Cities Howard Davis, 2019-12-12 Cities have historically supported production, commerce and consumption, all central to urban life. But in the contemporary Western city, production has been hidden or removed and commerce and consumption have dominated. This book is about the importance of production in the life of the city and the relationships between production, architecture and urban form. It answers the question: What will cities be like when they become once again places of production and not only of consumption? Through theoretical arguments, historical analysis and descriptions of new initiatives, Working Cities: Architecture, Place and Production argues that contemporary cities can regain their historic role as places of material production, places where food is processed and things are made. The book looks toward a future that builds on this revival, providing architectural and urban examples and current strategies within the framework of a strong set of historically based arguments. The book is illustrated in full colour with archival and contemporary photographs, maps and diagrams, especially developed for the book. The diagrams help illustrate the different variables of architectural space, urban location and production in different historical eras and in different kinds of industries, providing a compelling visual understanding for the reader.
