The Cargo Cult:

Cargo, Cult, and Culture Critique Holger Jebens, 2004-01-01 This collection of original essays is based on fieldwork in Melanesia Fiji Australia and Indonesia by scholars who are influential in the contemporary debate on cargo cults Cargo Cult Lamont Lindstrom, 2019-03-31 Who is not captivated by tales of Islanders earnestly scanning their watery horizons for great fleets of cargo ships bringing rice radios and refrigerators ships that will never arrive Of all the stories spun about the island peoples of Melanesia tales of cargo cult are among the most fascinating The term cargo cult Lamont Lindstrom contends is one of anthropology's most successful conceptual offspring Like culture worldview and ethnicity its usage has steadily proliferated migrating into popular culture where today it is used to describe an astonishing roll call of people Its history makes for lively and compelling reading The cargo cult story Lindstrom shows is more significant than it at first appears for it recapitulates in summary form three generations of anthropological theory and Pacific studies Although anthropologists enthusiasm for the notion of cargo cult has waned it now colors outsiders understanding of Melanesian culture and even Melanesians perceptions of themselves The repercussions for contemporary Islanders are significant leaders of more than one political movement have felt the need to deny that they are any kind of cargo cultist Of particular interest to this history is Lindstrom's argument that accounts of cargo cult are at heart tragedies of thwarted desire melancholy anticipation and crazy unrequited love He makes a convincing case that these stories expose powerful Western scenarios of desire itself giving cargo cult its combined titillation of the fascinating exotic and the comfortably familiar

The Cargo Cult Kakesek Peniel, 1969 A Sociological Interpretation of the Cargo Cult of New Guinea and Selected Comparable Phenomena in Other Areas of the World Arnold M. McDowell, 1994 Cargo, Cult, and Culture Critique Holger Jebens, 2004-09-30 Cargo cults have long exerted a remarkable attraction on Westerners and the last decade has seen the publication of much new work on the subject This collection of original essays is based on fieldwork in Melanesia Fiji Australia and Indonesia by scholars who are influential in the contemporary debate on cargo Conceived as a reader for undergraduate and graduate courses the volume offers an up to date view of the subject and the debates it arouses among contemporary anthropologists Some contributors plead for the abolition of cargo because of its troublesome implications but also because in the authors view cargo cults do not exist as identifiable objects of study Others argue that it is precisely this troublesome nature that makes the term a useful analytical tool that should be welcomed rather than rejected By delineating and substantiating key issues and positions in this lively and ongoing debate this volume underscores and refines the contemporary reevaluation of cargo cults Scholars of the Pacific region and others interested in new religious movements should find this volume both enlightening and compelling Contributors Nils Bubandt Vincent Crapanzano Douglas M Dalton

 Why did half the people on New Hanover a small island north of New Guinea vote for Lyndon Baines Johnson to be their ruler in 1964 Dorothy K Billings believes that this sort of action seen in New Guinea and other parts of Melanesia is part of the cargo cult phenomenon or micronationalist movements which are principally regarded as responses to European colonialism Based on thirty five years of fieldwork and observation Cargo Cult as Theater demonstrates how the Johnson Cult originally mocked and ridiculed by the outside world should be seen as an ongoing political performance meant to consolidate local power and advance economic development This fascinating study follows the changes in this community ritual from the time of the white master to post colonial self determination and reveals the history of this people s attempt to gain intellectual
