Robinson,1897 The Indian Journal of Social Work ,1986 Personal and Practical Christian Work Thomas Corwin Horton,1922 The National Nurseryman ,1911 Conscience and Purpose Paul R. Petrie,2005 Explores literature s social mission at the turn of the century as defined by William Dean Howells and practiced by him and others In a series of influential essays that appeared in Harper s W D Howells argued for literature as a vehicle for social change Literature could and should Howells suggested mediate across divisions of class and region fostering cross cultural sympathies that would lead to comprehensive social and ethical reform Paul R Petrie explores the legacy of Howells s beliefs as they manifest themselves in Howell s fiction and in the works of three major American writers Charles W Chesnutt Sarah Orne Jewett and

Willa Cather Each author struggled to adapt Howells's social ethical agenda for literature to his or her own aesthetic goals and to alternative conceptions of literary purpose Jewett not only embraced Howells's sense of social mission but also extended it by documenting commonplace cultural realities in a language and vision that was spiritual and transcendent Chesnutt sought to improve relations between Anglo readers and African Americans but his work such as The Conjure Woman also questions literature's ability to repair those divides Finally Petrie shows how Cather as she shifted from journalism to fiction freed herself from Howells's influence Alexander's Bridge 1912 and O Pioneers 1913 both make reference to social and material realities but only as groundwork for character portrayals that are mythic and heroic The result of Petrie's exploration is a refreshing reassessment of Howells's legacy and its impact on American literature and social history at the turn of the century
