The Non-Runner's Marathon Trainer David A. Whitsett,Forrest A. Dolgener,Tanjala Jo Kole,1998-02-01 Athlete Runner Marathoner Are these words you wouldn t exactly use to describe yourself Do you consider yourself too old or too out of shape to run a marathon But somewhere deep inside have you always admired the people who could reach down and come up with the mental and physical strength to complete such a daunting and rewarding accomplishment. It doesn't have to be somebody else crossing the finish line. You can be a marathoner. The Non Runner's Marathon Trainer is based on the highly successful marathon class offered by the University of Northern Iowa which was featured in a Runner's World article titled Marathon 101. The class has been offered five times over 10 years and all but one student finished the marathon. That is approximately 200 students all first time marathoners and many with absolutely no running background. This book follows the same 16 week four day a week workout plan. What makes the success rate of this program so much higher than any other? The special emphasis on the psychological aspects of endurance activities. You don't have to love to run, you don't even have to like it, but you have to realize that you are capable of more than you have ever thought possible. One participant in the program explained it like this: I'm doing this for me, not for others or the time clock. I just feel better when I run, plus it helps me to cope with things in general. The skills we've learned in this class don't apply just to marathoning; they apply to life. Just like you never know what the next step in a marathon will bring, so too you never know what will happen next in life. But if you don't keep going, you're never going to find out. By staying relaxed, centered, and positive, you handle just about anything that comes your way. This is marathon running for real people, people with jobs and families and obligations outside of running. The Non Runner's Marathon Trainer has proven successful for men and women of all ages. Now let it work for you.

The Looniness of the Long Distance Runner Russell Taylor, 2001 The Looniness of the Long Distance Runner is one comparatively unfit 39 year old Londoner's humorous account of his attempt to run the New York marathon from scratch He chose the pre Thanksgiving race in the Big Apple to avoid adding to his ordeal by having to train during the British winter Inspired by the charity running of friends Russell Taylor set himself the challenge of doing what Pheidippides first had done But to spare himself the post event trauma of trying to extract money from the reluctant grasp of his sponsors he decided to write a book about his experiences and donate the royalties to charity instead This book follows our intrepid road runner from the treadmills of a north London gymnasium via his first tentative fun run to the mean streets of the Bronx Queens and Manhattan Along the way we encounter indescribably tasteless isotonic drinks sweaty singlets sports injuries personal bests split times anxious queuing for the public toilets and an unfeasibly large quantity of bananas We also discover what lurks within the breast of the endurance athlete an unreasonable hatred of his fellow runner except the nubile females of the species a contempt for the idiocy of stadium announcers and a strange fear of spectators who line the route inanely shouting Keep Going by way of encouragement The narrative is interspersed by jocular reviews of films about running not least The Loneliness of the Long Distance Runner and a tongue in cheek description of the history of the marathon from its Ancient Greek origins to its modern day revival as an Olympic event Written with considerable panache and a self deprecating sense of humour this illuminating tale of obsessive and foolhardy sporting endeavour will make entertaining reading for in descending order of athletic accomplishment manic ultra marathon runners dedicated pavement pounders occasional joggers and the simply curious alike
