Before installing Your Cable Modem

Your cable service provider wants to know your modem's MAC ADDRESS, which is a unique ID label on the bottom of your modem. This information identifies your cable modem service as your device's identification by linking the cable company (ISP/DSL) to the cable modem. Because this ID label is provided to the cable company, it is important to know your modem's MAC ADDRESS. If you need the modem's serial number, you can find it from the MAC address on the bottom of the modem.

System Requirements

- The modem connects the cable modem to a cable modem service that uses one of the popular DOCSIS standards - DOCSIS 1.1, 2.0, or 3.1. If you need to get cable modem service, please speak with your cable service provider.
- To use the Quick Start, you need a computer, a PC or a laptop, or another tablet.

Some cable service providers supply a cable modem starter kit that includes the modem and power cord. The kit may include a remote control for controlling the modem's settings and a power cord. (The remote control is not included in the Cable Modem/Router's package.) Please refer to the User Manual for more information. If you need a remote control, please refer to the User Manual for more information. If you need a remote control, please refer to the User Manual for more information. The modem is DOCSIS 1.1 compliant, Cable Modem, and connects to a standard cable modem.

Note: Please refer to the Hardware Connection section. Your modem will be in a default state of the back of the cable modem with a description of the connections.
