The Loneliness Factor:

Dimensional Psychopathology Massimo Biondi,Massimo Pasquini,Angelo Picardi,2018-05-30 This book presents an innovative approach to clinical assessment in psychiatry based on a number of psychopathological dimensions with a presumed underlying pathophysiology that are related to fundamental phenomenological aspects and lie on a continuum from normality to pathology It is described how the evaluation of these dimensions with a specific validated rapid assessment instrument could easily integrate and enrich the classical diagnostic DSM 5 or ICD 10 assessment The supplemental use of this dimensional approach can better capture the complexity underlying current categories of mental illness The findings from a large patient sample suggest how this assessment could give a first glance at how variable and multifaceted the psychopathological components within a single diagnostic category can be and thereby optimise diagnosis and treatment choices Being short and easy to complete this dimensional assessment can be done in a busy clinical setting during an ordinary psychiatric visit and in an acute clinical context with limited effort by a minimally trained clinician Therefore it provides interesting and useful information without additional costs and allows research work to be performed even in difficult settings

Culture and Depression Arthur Kleinman,Byron J. Good,2023-04-28 Some of the most innovative and provocative work on the emotions and illness is occurring in cross cultural research on depression Culture and Depression presents the work of anthropologists psychiatrists and psychologists who examine the controversies agreements and conceptual and methodological problems that arise in the course of such research A book of enormous depth and breadth of discussion Culture and Depression enriches the cross cultural study of emotions and mental illness and leads it in new directions It commences with a historical study followed by a series of anthropological accounts that examine the problems that arise when depression is assessed in other cultures. This is a work of impressive scholarship which demonstrates that anthropological approaches to affect and illness raise central questions for psychiatry and psychology and that cross cultural studies of depression raise equally provocative questions for anthropology. This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice, reach and impact. Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893, Voices Revived makes high quality peer-reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology. This title was originally published in 1987. Some of the most innovative and provocative work on the emotions and illness is occurring in cross cultural research on depression. Culture and Depression presents the work of anthropologists, psychiatrists and psychologists who examine the controversies.

Structural Equation Modeling of Multiple Rater Data Michael Eid, Christian Geiser, Tobias

Koch, 2024-10-15. The use of multiple raters can improve the validity of conclusions made on self and other reports of emotions, attitudes, goals and self perceptions of personality. Yet analyzing these ratings requires special psychometric models that take into account the specific nature of these data. From leading authorities, this book offers the first comprehensive introduction to structural equation modeling (SEM) of multiple rater data. Rather than taking a one size fits all approach, the book shows how the choice of a model should be guided by measurement design and purpose. Practical recommendations are provided for selecting suitable measurement designs, raters and psychometric models. Models for different combinations of rater types and for cross sectional as well as longitudinal research designs are described step by step with a strong emphasis on the substantive meaning of the latent variables in the models. User friendly features include equation boxes, application boxes and a companion website with Mplus and lavaan code for the book's examples.

The COVID-19 Pandemic and Older Adults Edward Alan Miller, 2022-04-19

The COVID-19 pandemic has disrupted life globally through virus related mortality and morbidity and the social and economic impacts of actions taken to stop the virus spread. It became evident early on during the pandemic that older adults are especially vulnerable to morbidity and mortality from COVID-19 and the adverse consequences of strategies taken to mitigate its effects. While no more likely to become infected than younger populations, the risk for hospitalization and death rises considerably with age. Residents of long term care facilities have been among the hardest hit. The pandemic has brought many facets of ageism to the fore. Community stay at home messages, lockdowns, social distancing requirements and visitation restrictions contributed to a concomitant epidemic in social isolation and loneliness. Economic and social impacts have been dramatic so too has been the disproportionate hardship experienced by members of racial and ethnic minority communities. This book reports original empirical research and perspectives on the ramifications of the COVID-19 pandemic for the older adult population and draws lessons for policy research and practice. Key issues pertaining to the impact of COVID-19 on older adults and their families, caregivers and communities are highlighted. Four main areas are examined: personal experiences with COVID-19, long term care system impacts, end of life care and technology and innovation The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Aging Social Policy     The Loneliness Factor Hansen Planetarium,1975     The Loneliness Factor Carole Oles,1979-01-01
