Business Mindframe, The: The General Truth Of Business Redefining Business Management

Knowledge Baldwin Hui, Andrew Siu, Gary Ching, 2013-10-01 Business knowledge has been evolving ever since the emergence of the first economic book The Wealth of Nations written by Adam Smith. A profound load of business management theories, concepts, notions, techniques, and tools have been developed. However, pragmatic applications of those good stuffs to business in practice seem not quite satisfactory. Many evidences show that the majority of senior managers are still reactive instead of proactive to the environmental changes, myopia in strategic planning, inconsistent in managing and bias in analyzing. Those are obviously the handicaps in the treacherously changing business environment. On the other hand, the under performance of MBA graduates somehow reveals that there might be a need to renovate and supplement the current education system in management. Those problems will be well defined and addressed in this book through introducing a new approach in thinking and effective methods that can readily help resolve these problems. Unlike the pure academic writings, our principles, systems, methods, and tools are developed based upon not only academic theories but also the practical experiences through being practiced and testified in numerous business cases in reality. Furthermore, our principles and systems are designed to be readily applicable to business in practice. Business in its nature is a holistic and indivisible piece of matter, and it is also a complex, volatile, and conceptual matter as well. The former characteristics hinder the business practitioners from managing and making decisions effectively, while the latter ones hinder the students from acquiring the mastery of its overall rationale. Image that without a holistic and integrative framework and engineering mindset, the tasks of business planning and implementation might end up like constructing a cross sea bridge without an overall blueprint and engineering concepts and practices. Unfortunately, there is by far no such a single framework that provides a holistic view systematically and visually that allows people to concisely capture the essence of business. Conceptualization is deemed to be one of the crucial abilities in strategic planning and decision making for senior executive level and usually becomes a bottleneck for many middle managers to move up along their career ladder. One of the challenges of conceptualizing business lies in the complexity and vagueness of the relationship among numerous business elements. For removing this difficulty to a considerable extent, we take the systematic approach to provide the framework that holistically captures the panorama of business environment and logically integrates the essential business elements in seamless manner from financial status and performance to management functions to strategy to market environment to macro environment. Essentially, our system serves as a frame of mind in the field of business called Business MindFrame, in which people can be aided in better modeling business contexts, reasoning the business decisions out, and charting the effective courses of actions rationally. constitute a tutorial a guide to practical applications and a reference source on recent advances in computer vision research The tutorial component will benefit students and professionals who are relatively new to the computer vision field The description of practical applications of machine vision technology will act as a guide to practicing engineers And the collection of papers on recent research advances will be an excellent reference source for active researchers in the computer vision field We believe that the ideas and techniques described in these two books will continue to influence vision system research and design for many years to come

Management of New Technologies for Global Competitiveness

Christian Madu, 1993-06-30 Management of new technologies is a critical factor in achieving global competitiveness A recent survey of managers in the United States revealed that the implementation of new and advanced technologies is the most popular strategy in achieving global competitiveness This book explores the role of technology in that context The book identifies the role of new technologies in improving quality and shows that adopting a strategic total quality management will in fact lead to improved productivity and survivability of the firm A thorough comparison of the Japanese and American production management practices is presented This in depth analysis helps to identify the problems of managing new technologies and shows that human resources management is a critical factor that should not be overlooked Other strategies for improving global competitiveness are presented Each of the five sections of the book deals with a major thrust that confronts management of new technologies The book also discusses information system management and product design The book uses real life cases models and conceptual frameworks to support the views presented Productivity quality and competitiveness are all related to technology The success of Japanese corporations in achieving quality management has impelled the U S executives to listen and re evaluate their management practices Increasingly many managers believe that new advanced technologies can contribute to improving the productivity quality and competitiveness of a firm However simply adopting a new technology will not put an end to productivity and or quality problems This fact is most apparent in the case of computer integrated manufacturing The islands of automation that have resulted convinced many that effective management of new technologies is necessary in order to exploit any potential benefits This book focuses on efficient management techniques and looks at the critical areas that can enhance the performance of a firm as a result of the adoption of new technologies The book is divided into five sections The total quality management section contains four chapters that present a comparison between the Japanese and American production practices This section also presents a new way to measure the performance of a firm not just by the direct quality of the product or service produced but also by the sensitivity and responsibility of the firm to environmental and greening issues The selection and implementation of new technologies section discusses the problems associated with the cost accounting techniques in justifying new technologies and uses a multicriteria decision framework to show how this decision could be made The strategic management section presents issues on production innovation and performance The knowledge based techniques section investigates the role of artificial intelligence and expert systems in the management of new technologies Finally the product design and inventory management section discusses the role of product design and reduced lot sizes in achieving a competitive advantage
