The African Queen Cecil S. Forester, 1962    The African Queen C. S. Forester, 2013-10-17 A classic tale of love and adventure from the author of the Captain Hornblower series The film adaptation which starred Katharine Hepburn and Humphrey Bogart became one of the most popular films ever made The African Queen is an old dirty ugly unreliable steamboat not the kind of boat anyone would take down a dangerous river through the jungles of Central Africa But Rose Sayer and Charlie Allnut do just that Why do they do it The First World War has just begun and Rose has a crazy plan She and Charlie set off down the river and come close to death many times but they survive all dangers except the danger of falling in love    The African Queen Cecil Scott Forester, 1940 English missionary s sister enlists aid of mechanic in blowing up German gunboat on African lake    John Huston's Filmmaking Lesley Brill, 1997-10-13 John Huston s Filmmaking offers an analysis of the life and work of one of the greatest American independent filmmakers Always visually exciting Huston s films sensitively portray humankind in all its incarnations chronicling the attempts by protagonists to conceive and articulate their identities Fundamental questions of selfhood happiness and love are intimately connected to the idea of home which for the filmmaker also signified a congenial place among other people in the world In this study Lesley Brill shows Huston s films to be far more than formulaic adventures of masculine failure arguing instead that they demonstrate the close connection between humanity the natural world and divinity    The African Queen , 1951    Focus On: 100 Most Popular Films Based on British Novels Wikipedia contributors,    Vessel Documentation Waivers United States. Congress. House. Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. Subcommittee on Merchant Marine, 1990    African Settings in Contemporary American Novels Dave Kuhne, 1999-05-30 Africa has long captured the Western imagination as a land shrouded in danger and mystery British and American novels written before World War II established popular conventions and stereotypes about Africa that have been increasingly challenged by contemporary American novels set in Africa Kuhne s book overviews the ways in which Africa has been employed as a powerful setting for American novels written since World War II Kuhne argues that contemporary American novels with African settings are largely didactic that these novels convey specific lessons about Africa and Africans and that they compare African and American cultures in order to evaluate and critique the two worlds The book begins by summarizing the conventions and themes Westerners have traditionally associated with Africa and by detailing how British and American authors from Aphra Behn to Ernest Hemingway depicted Africa before World War II It then looks at contemporary American novels set in invented African nations novels that typically suggest that the problems that trouble actual African nations are the result of colonialism A separate chapter then examines the African novels of African Americans which generally aim to correct the historical record refute stereotypes and detail the horrors of the slave trade The volume also looks at genre fiction set in Africa while a final chapter discusses postcolonial novels with African settings

Agee at 100 Michael A. Lofaro,2026-10-25 Drawn mainly from the centennial anniversary symposium on James Agee held at the University of Tennessee in the fall of 2009 the essays of Agee at 100 are as diverse in topic and purpose as is Agee s work itself Often devalued during his life by those who thought his breadth a hindrance to greatness Agee s achievements as a poet novelist journalist essayist critic documentarian and screenwriter are now more fully recognized With its use of previously unknown and recently recovered materials as well as established works this groundbreaking new collection is a timely contribution to the resurgence of interest in Agee s significance The essays in this collection range from the scholarly to the personal and all offer insight into Agee s writing his cultural influence and ultimately Agee himself Dwight Garner opens with his reflective essay on Why Agee Matters Several essays present almost entirely new material on Agee Paul Ashdown writes on Agee s book reviews which unlike Agee s film criticism have received scant attention With evidence from two largely unstudied manuscripts Jeffrey Couchman sets the record straight on Agee s contribution to the screenplay for The African Queen and delves as well into his television miniseries screenplay Mr Lincoln John Wranovics treats Agee s lesser known films the documentaries In the Street and The Quiet One and the Filipino epic Genghis Khan Jeffrey J Folks wrestles with Agee s culture of repudiation while James A Crank investigates his perplexing treatment of race in his prose Jesse Graves and Andrew Crooke provide new analyses of Let Us Now Praise Famous Men and Michael A Lofaro and Philip Stogdon both discuss Lofaro s recently restored text of A Death in the Family David Madden closes the collection with his short story Seeing Agee in Lincoln an imagined letter from Agee to his longtime confidante

Father Flye The contributors to Agee at 100 utilize materials new and old to reveal the true importance of Agee's range of cultural sensibility and literary ability Film scholars will also find this collection particularly engrossing as will anyone fascinated by the work of the author rightly deemed the sovereign prince of the English language The Story of Africa and Its Explorers: The river of Egypt.
