The Happiness Problem Wren-Lewis, Sam, 2019-11-28 We appear to have more control over our lives than ever before If we could get things right the perfect job relationship family body and mind then we'd be happy With enough economic growth and technological innovation we could cure all societal ills The Happiness Problem shows that this way of thinking is too simplistic and can even be harmful no matter how much progress we make we will still be vulnerable to disappointment loss and suffering The things we do to make ourselves happy are merely the tip of the iceberg Sam Wren Lewis offers an alternative process that acknowledges insecurity and embraces uncertainty Drawing on our psychological capacities for curiosity and compassion he proposes that we can connect with and gain a deeper understanding of the personal and social challenges that define our time

Visual Mismatch Negativity (vMMN): a Prediction Error Signal in the Visual Modality Gabor Stefanics, István Czigler, 2015-06-04 Current theories of visual change detection emphasize the importance of conscious attention to detect unexpected changes in the visual environment However an increasing body of studies shows that the human brain is capable of detecting even small visual changes especially if such changes violate non conscious probabilistic expectations based on repeating experiences In other words our brain automatically represents statistical regularities of our visual environment Since the discovery of the auditory mismatch negativity MMN event related potential ERP component the majority of research in the field has focused on auditory deviance detection Such automatic change detection mechanisms operate in the visual modality too as indicated by the visual mismatch negativity vMMN brain potential to rare changes VMMN is typically elicited by stimuli with infrequent deviant features embedded in a stream of frequent standard stimuli outside the focus of attention In this research topic we aim to present vMMN as a prediction error signal Predictive coding theories account for phenomena such as mismatch negativity and repetition suppression and place them in a broader context of a general theory of cortical responses

A wide range of vMMN studies has been presented in this Research Topic Twelve articles address roughly four general sub themes including attention language face processing and psychiatric disorders Additionally four articles focused on particular subjects such as the oblique effect object formation and development and time frequency analysis of vMMN Furthermore a review paper presented vMMN in a hierarchical predictive coding framework Each paper in this Research Topic is a valuable contribution to the field of automatic visual change detection and deepens our understanding of the short term plasticity underlying predictive processes of visual perceptual learning New York Times Saturday Book Review Supplement ,1962-05
