The Ambivalent Force:

The Ambivalent Force Arthur Niederhoffer, Abraham S. Blumberg, 1976 Various assessments of some major features of the police occupation and role by psychiatrists attorneys administrators and others are presented in this collection of papers The volume stresses the uncertainties ambiguities and ambivalences of the police role in society in the past and present which are likely to persist in the foreseeable future Historical similarities are revealed in the relative permanence and continuity of the problems of the police as they confront violent and disruptive events in every epoch Suggestions and predictions with regard to the future roles of the police are made The organizational and institutional constraints of the police system are examined with particular attention to the bureaucratic qualities that determine the lifestyles career lines and policy decisions of police organizations It is said that the police share many of the dilemmas and unresolved conflicts of professionalization common to other occupations The police world view is examined and the sources of their values of loyalty authoritarianism and defensiveness are explored They are compared with other professional groups which undergo a similar estrangement as they become more experienced in their work situation Several articles deal with the issue of police corruption A chapter on police discretion analyzes some factors which affect a police officer's virtually uncontrolled discretion in the performance of his duty The problems of police work relations with urban communities are discussed including the causes of the constantly high level of hostility toward police An overview of legal issues that touch upon the police is presented Critiques of the police by a number of persons are offered and suggestions for necessary changes are made The final chapter contains perceptions of several authorities on the directions law enforcement will follow in the next few decades

The Ambivalence of Power in the Twenty-First Century Economy Vadim Radaev, Zoya

Kotelnikova, 2022-07-07 The Ambivalence of Power in the Twenty First Century Economy contributes to the understanding of the ambivalent nature of power oscillating between conflict and cooperation public and private global and local formal and informal and does so from an empirical perspective It offers a collection of country based cases as well as critically assesses the existing conceptions of power from a cross disciplinary perspective The diverse analyses of power at the macro meso or micro levels allow the volume to highlight the complexity of political economy in the twenty first century Each chapter addresses key elements of that political economy from the ambivalence of the cases of former communist countries that do not conform with the grand narratives about democracy and markets to the dual utility of new technologies such as face recognition thus providing mounting evidence for the centrality of an understanding of ambivalence in the analysis of power especially in the modern state power driven capitalism Anchored in economic sociology and political economy this volume aims to make visible the dimensions of power embedded in economic practices The chapters are predominantly based on post communist practices but this divergent experience is relevant to comparative studies of how power and economy are interrelated

"Heart of Darkness" and the ambivalence of imperialism Silvia Gert, 2014-02-17 Seminar paper from the year 2013 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 1 0 LMU Munich Englische Philologie language English abstract Set at the turn of the last century and consequently at the peak of imperialism Joseph Conrad s novella Heart of Darkness published in 1899 is to this day still one of the most critically and controversially treated works about English colonial history in Africa The research concerning this novella has been carried out in many directions it has been compared to Dante s Inferno Goonetilleke 2007 12 and is said to have anticipated Freudian ideas of psychoanalysis ibid 14 it is discussed whether its main intention is to portray an image of Africa as envisioned in Europe the decay of European imperialism or on a more individual level the development and inner conflict of a subject namely Marlow the latter leading to the novella even being viewed as a Bildungsroman Cahir 2004 183 A further point of inquiry deals with the portrayal of Africa and Africans in Conrad s work here Chinua Achebe s essay has been of particular interest as he firstly and most prominently questions the legitimacy of Heart of Darkness being part of the literary canon and accuses Conrad of being a xenophobe 1988 269 and a thoroughgoing racist ibid 267 To him the novella is offensive and deplorable and not worthy of being titled one of the greatest works in the English language ibid 268 While Achebe s ideas have also met criticism through their provocative nature they have nevertheless forced readers to address the issue of racism and imperialism in Heart of Darkness critically

Nuclear Politics in America Robert J. Duffy, 1997 Duffy s work traces nuclear politics from the creation of a powerful subgovernment through the public lobby reforms of the late 1960s and early 1970s and the deregulatory backlash of the Reagan years He demonstrates that while policies did change in the 1970s they did not change as much as other accounts have suggested and that the industry continued to receive considerable federal support The book is particularly significant for extending the discussion of nuclear policy through the Bush and Clinton years including the controversy over waste disposal new licensing procedures enacted in the 1992 Amendments to the Atomic Energy Act and the effects of deregulation of electric utilities Amazon com viewed August 24 2020

From Social Worker to Crimefighter Dorothy M. Schulz, 1995-05-30 In the United States women in policing evolved from matrons to policewomen to police officers Today the position of police chief has been achieved by women The changing role of women in this traditionally male dominated field is the subject of this book It weaves together the history of the police and the history of women and highlights a century of change in law enforcement The book also describes how the changing role of women in society affected their role in law enforcement

The Dominion of Voice Kimberly K. Smith, 1999 In this work of historically informed political theory Kimberly Smith sets out to understand how nineteenth century Americans answered the question of how the people should participate in politics Did rational public debate the ideal that most democratic theorists now venerate transcend all other forms of political expression How and why did passion disappear from the ideology if not the practice of American democracy To answer these questions she focuses on the political culture of the urban North during the turbulent Jacksonian Age roughly 1830-50 when the shape and character of the democratic public were still fluid Smith's method is to interpret in light of such popular discourse as newspapers and novels several key texts in nineteenth century American political thought Frederick Douglass's Fourth of July speech and Narrative Angelina Grimké's debate with Catharine Beecher Frances Wright's lectures and Harriet Beecher Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin Such texts Smith finds highlight many of the then current ideas about the extremes of political expression Her readings support the conclusions that the value of rational argument itself was contested that the emergent Enlightenment rationalism may have helped to sterilize political debate and that storytelling or testimony posed an important challenge to the norm of political rationality Smith explores facets of the political culture in ways that make sense of traditions from Whiggish resistance to Protestant narrative testimony She helps us to understand such puzzles as the point of mob action and other ritualistic disruptions of the political process our simultaneous attraction to and suspicion of political debates and the appeal of stories by and about victims of injustice Also found in her book are keen analyses of the antebellum press and the importance of oratory and public speaking Smith shows that alternatives to reasoned deliberation like protest resistance and storytelling have a place in politics Such alternatives underscore the positive role that interest passion compassion and even violence might play in the political life of America Her book therefore is a cautionary analysis of how rationality came to dominate our thinking about politics and why its hegemony should concern us Ultimately Smith reminds the reader that democracy and reasoned public debate are not synonymous and that the linkage is not necessarily a good thing

Warmaking and American Democracy Michael David Pearlman, 1999 While war is most effectively waged as a united effort the United States has consistently waged military conflict without firm central direction Throughout our history observes Michael Pearlman the waging of war has been subject to continuous bargaining and compromise among competing governments and military factions What passes for strategy emerged from this process

G. Schulte Nordholt, Henk Schulte Nordholt, 1996 The first comprehensive history of Balinese politics from the middle of the 17th century till the end of Dutch colonial rule in 1942 Based on extensive research in colonial archives in the Netherlands and Indonesia a variety of Balinese historical narratives interviews with former colonial officials as well as many Balinese and fieldwork data concerning temples rituals and oral histories Cosmologies of Suffering Agita Lüse, Imre Lazar, 2007 The edited volume elaborates on a range of themes that emerged during a workshop of the 8th biennial of the European Association of Social Anthropologists in

Vienna in 2004 Among these themes are the paradoxical permanence of transition in post communist countries the accompanying persistence of social suffering and the structural conditions that give rise to it A final theme focuses on the resources that people mobilize to cope with suffering and trauma Ways of coping manifest a stance towards agency shared by sufferers from diverse post communist regions such as ethnically divided Croatia politically and economically unstable Zimbabwe relatively more peaceful countries such as Hungary Poland and Slovenia and finally two religiously unique areas in Siberia Russia Ethnographic accounts from these diverse settings testify that agency has often involved relinquishing reliance on one's self and turning towards a power higher than the self whether this is conceptualized through the lens of transcendence religion or cosmology This is a fascinating new series of ethnographic studies of specific mostly Eastern European and ex Soviet mystically orientated communities grappling with existential issues of suffering and meaninglessness Following the collapse of Soviet hegemonic communism and the well known revitalisation of traditional and New Age worldviews many people have embraced alternative cosmologies to generate new identities and meanings that are not dependant on empirically derived positivistic perspectives This book is major theoretical and ethnographically based contribution to understanding the profound social and personal transformations of worldviews and lived practices that have subsequently developed Professor Iain Edgar Senior Lecturer in Social Anthropology University of Durham UK
