The Almost Impossible Quiz:

The Almost Impossible Quiz Book Irene Thomas, 1982 The Almost Impossible Ally Peter Mangold, 2006-02-02 On 14 January 1963 General de Gaulle described by the Foreign Office as an almost impossible ally brutally vetoed Britain's first bid to join the Common Market. It was a blow that delayed Britain's entry for a decade and hastened the end of Harold Macmillan's political career. Peter Mangold writes in arresting detail about the fascinating personal duel that shaped high politics and Anglo-French diplomacy. He portrays two of the most complex and skilful leaders of the post-war era: old friends from their association in Algiers during World War II; de Gaulle, the dour, lofty moralist obsessed with high notions of France; and Macmillan, the canny, ambitious fixer, always the pragmatist seeking to get things done. As Resident Minister Allied Forces Headquarters in Algiers in 1943, Macmillan had done much to help de Gaulle and protect him from Churchill's and Roosevelt's hostility. They next met in 1958 as leaders of their two countries when Britain and France faced many similar problems ranging from decolonization and their determination to retain national Great Power status to relations with the impetuous Soviet leader Nikita Khrushchev. But while both seemed anxious to retain their old wartime connection, they were now rivals with very different views of the world. Divided by the Atlantic as much as the Channel, the two leaders disagreed fundamentally over America. De Gaulle sought the leadership of a Europe independent of the United States; the pro-American Macmillan talked of Britain as a bridge between the two sides of the Atlantic. When Macmillan finally sought EEC membership, de Gaulle played on the old alliance to keep the British Prime Minister off guard. Ultimately, Macmillan was outwitted, outmanoeuvred and even perhaps outclassed by the General. The Almost Impossible Ally is a fascinating story of a friendship turned sour and of a compelling new episode in the turbulent relations between Britain and France.

The Quest for Plausible Christian Discourse in a World of Pluralities Younhee Kim, 2008 This book critically examines David Tracy's well known methodology of fundamental theology, namely his revisionist model as developed in his Blessed Rage for Order 1975 together with his methodological shifts through the 1980s, 1990s and early 2000s. It explores how successful he has been in constructing a methodology for the public theological discourse that he deems so necessary. More particularly, this book asks how serviceable this methodology is for articulating Christian discourse in an intelligible and public way in the contemporary context of religious plurality.

Stopping the carousel Great Britain: Parliament: House of Lords: European Union Committee, 2007-05-25 Missing Trader Intra-Community Fraud, also known as carousel fraud, where goods are repeatedly exported and imported with the EU, has caused a considerable loss of revenue. In 2005/6 it is estimated the UK lost between 3.4 and 5 billion. This report looks both at some of the measures that have been taken to recoup some of this money and measures to stop fraud occurring. In addition, it considers whether the Government's policies have imposed an unreasonable burden upon legitimate businesses within affected sectors. It concludes that not only are existing measures unsustainable, steps need to be taken to ensure innocent traders are not damaged. The government needs to work with Member States to implement a system of taxation of intra Community transactions that will be less vulnerable to major fraud
