Retired at Eighteen: Political Economy of Child Labour in the Textiles and Allied Industries in India Abhijit Mukhopadhyay, Shoba Suri, Mihir Sharma, Oommen C.

Kurian, 2020-11-05 This report analyses the use of child labour 1 in the textiles and allied industries in India and the drivers that lead to its prevalence. India home to one fifth of the world s children has the highest rates of child labour an estimated 33 million children under the age of 18 are engaged in work in various sectors across the country from domestic service and agriculture to textiles and mining. The textiles and allied industries are the second largest employers in India after agriculture with 40 million direct and 60 million indirect employees. As a traditionally labour intensive industry where flexible and low cost labour has driven growth and pushed India s global competitiveness in the sector the textiles sector is enabled by the massive use of child labour. The continuing practice of child labour has the potential to jeopardise India s push for incentivising foreign investments into the sector and integrating into global supply chains. This report seeks to address key facets of the issue and provide holistic policy solutions. It is divided into three sections. Chapter 1 reviews key literature about child labour in India particularly its causes and impacts. The second chapter provides an analysis of child labour in India within the garment and textile industry using data from 88 sub state regions a collection of districts covered by the National Sample Survey NSS of 2011 2012. The final chapter tests the hypothesis that labour costs are the main drivers of global competitiveness in the textiles and allied industries. This is done through an analysis of NSSO unit level data from the Enterprises Survey 2015 16 of ten sub state regions a

The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child

Ton Liefaard, Julia Sloth-Nielsen, 2016-11-01 In 2014 the world s most widely ratified human rights treaty one specifically for children reached the milestone of its twenty fifth anniversary. The UN Convention on the Rights of the Child was adopted after the fall of the Berlin Wall and in the time since then it has entered a new century reshaping laws policies institutions and practices across the globe along with fundamental conceptions of who children are their rights and entitlements and society's duties and obligations to them. Yet despite its rapid entry into force worldwide there are concerns that the Convention remains a high level paper treaty without the traction on the ground needed to address ever continuing violations of children's rights. This book based on papers from the conference 25 Years CRC held by the Department of Child Law at Leiden University draws together a rich collection of research and insight by academics, practitioners, NGOs and other specialists to reflect on the lessons of the past 25 years, take stock of how international rights find their way into children's lives at the local level and explore the frontiers of children's rights for the 25 years ahead. The Wiley Blackwell

Child Marriage, Rights and Choice Hoko Horii, 2021-11-18 This book addresses the issue of agency in relation to child marriage. In international campaigns against child marriage there is a puzzle of agency. While international human rights institutions celebrate girls' exercise of their agency not to marry, they do not recognize their agency to marry. Child marriage, usually defined as any formal marriage or informal union where one or both of the parties are under 18 years of age, is normally considered as forced, which is to say that it is assumed that they are not capable of consenting to marriage. This book, however, re-examines this assumption through a detailed socio-legal examination of child marriage in Indonesia. Eliciting the multiple competing frameworks according to which child marriage takes place, the book considers the complex reasons why children marry. Structural explanations such as lack of opportunities and oppressive social structures are important but not exhaustive explanations. Exploring the subjective reasons by listening to children's perspectives, their stories show that many of them decide to marry for love, desire to belong to the community and for new opportunities and hopes. The book then demonstrates how the child marriage framework and indeed the human rights framework in general is constructed on too narrow a vision of human agency. One that cannot but fail to respect and promote the agency of all, regardless of gender, race, religion and age. This book will be of interest to scholars, students and practitioners in the areas of children's rights, legal anthropology and socio-legal studies. Proceedings of the ... Christian Associations of the State of New York, 1882 Digitalization and child labour in agriculture Termeer, E., Vos, B., Bolchini, A., Van Ingen, E., Abrokwa, K., 2023-06-08 This paper is the product of a collaboration between the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations FAO and Wageningen University and Research WUR to explore the potential application of innovative technologies to improve data collection and risk estimation of child labour in the cocoa sector. In particular, it assesses the potential role of blockchain technology and Geographic Information Systems GIS in collecting and sharing data on cocoa growing areas in Ghana and how this could contribute to monitoring and ultimately preventing child labour in those areas. During an inception mission undertaken by FAO in Ghana open consultations with various stakeholders in the cocoa sector led to the identification of a number of Key Data Elements KDEs to inform the design of a blockchain system with the objective to facilitate real time, cost efficient and collaborative monitoring of the risk of child labour in cocoa growing areas in Ghana. WUR was commissioned by the FAO to further explore the potential application of blockchain technology and GIS to monitor selected KDEs related to the root causes of child labour in Ghana. Despite decades of interventions since the ratification of the Harkin-Engel Protocol in 2001 to eliminate child labour in the cocoa sectors of Côte d'Ivoire and Ghana, the latest progress report shows child labour in this sector is increasing rather than decreasing (Sadhu et al. 2020). This trend is concerning given the detrimental effects of child labour on children's lives, education, and health and the perpetuated cycle of poverty as a result. To break this trend, it is necessary to expand and improve current methods of tracking the incidence of child labour monitoring and explore more sustainable ways to support rural families to keep children out of child labour prevention. To that end, technology, digitalization, and digital innovations have a role in poverty reduction and improving living standards in developing countries; however, political and socio-economic problems can hinder these technological fixes. With smallholder cocoa producers being the most vulnerable actors within this value chain, the implementation of technological monitoring systems is not a clear cut route. Participation and engagement depend not only on the perception of the advantages to farmers and community but also on issues that impact the adoption and use of information and communication technologies (ICT). For example, availability, affordability, and literacy and effective use.

Recommendation on Social Protection Floors Tineke Dijkhoff, Letlhokwa George Mpedi, 2016-04-24 Despite the international community's recognition of social protection as a human right, the vast majority of the world's population still has no access to social protection. In a major effort to address this situation, the International Labour Conference unanimously adopted the Social Protection Floors Recommendation 202 of 2012. However, because of the wide variety of possible schemes and techniques that can be employed to administer them there is a genuine risk that important values relating to social protection will be overlooked in implementing the Recommendation This collection of expert essays contains an in depth clarification and analysis of the Recommendation and sets forth a clear and practicable set of principles that can be used both as a policy tool and as an assessment framework for the creation maintenance and supervision of a national social protection floor This book pays detailed attention to each of the Recommendation s key principles including the following state responsibility universality of protection entitlement based in law adequacy and predictability of benefits non discrimination financial solidarity good governance coherence of policies and social participation A special feature of the book is its inclusion of case studies that display innovative social protection schemes focusing on children and families persons of working age particularly informal sector workers and elderly persons A concluding section offers useful insights on measures that can be taken and lessons learned As a deeply informed and practical guide to ways in which states can and do establish and maintain a social protection floor as a fundamental element of their national social protection systems this book has no peers It will be warmly welcomed by jurists concerned with social protection throughout the world by pertinent government agencies at all levels by non governmental organizations and by academics in the field Onward ,1897
