The findings presented a modified variant of the H5N1 avian influenza virus hereafter referred to as the H5N1 virus that was transmissible via aerosol between ferrets. These results suggested a worrisome possibility the existence of a new airborne and highly lethal H5N1 virus that could cause a deadly global pandemic. In response a series of international discussions on the nature of dual use life science arose. These discussions addressed the complex social, technical, political, security and ethical issues related to dual use research. This Research Topic will be devoted to contributions that explore this matrix of issues from a variety of case study and international perspectives.
