The Nationalized Industries Since 1960 A Of Readings:

The Nationalized Industries Since 1960 Leonard Tivey,2026-03-02 The 1960s were vital years for British nationalized industries They saw important changes in structure and organization improved performance and evolving methods of accountability Originally published in 1973 Leonard Tivey spotlights the major developments of the decade with a carefully selected series of readings many of which are drawn from official documents These were not always readily accessible to the student of public administration and gathering together the most significant of them would contribute to a better understanding of the developments that had taken place and of their implications During the period covered by this book the steel industry was renationalized the Post Office was transformed from a government department into a public corporation the coal industry and passenger and freight transport services were extensively reorganized far reaching proposals were formulated for air transport and the financial policies governing the railways underwent significant change The political and economic ideas and the management concepts that animated these various developments are clearly brought out by the author s choice of extracts A major problem that had lately dominated the thoughts of those responsible for running the nationalized industries was the financial and economic criteria that should determine the Government s policies towards them generally and in regard to particular industries How far for example does the old distinction between commercialism and national or social interest continue to have any importance for the determination of policy Tivey s choice of readings thoroughly illuminates questions of this kind which lay at the heart of public policy relating to the nationalized industries The issue of economic criteria had been closely linked with the question of ministerial control Although at one time Ministers were expected to be concerned only with the broader policy questions relating to the nationalized industries these in practice lead them into issues that the Boards regard as coming within the ambit of management The Select Committee on Nationalized Industries of the House of Commons had given close attention to this matter and extracts from its reports and academic comment on them gave the reader a fuller understanding of the essential problems involved Today it can be read in its historical context

The Official History of Privatisation Vol. I David Parker,2009-01-29 This first volume of the Official History studies the background to privatisation and the privatisations of the first two Conservative Governments led by Margaret Thatcher from May 1979 to June 1987 First commissioned by the then Prime Minister Tony Blair as an authoritative history this volume addresses a number of key questions To what extent was privatisation a clear policy commitment within the Thatcher Governments of the 1980s or did Government simply stumble on the idea Why were particular public corporations sold early in the 1980s and other sales delayed until well into the 1990s What were the privatisation objectives and how did they change over time if at all How was each privatisation planned and executed how were different City advisers appointed and remunerated what precise roles did they play How was each privatisation administered in what ways did the methods evolve and change and why How were sale prices determined Which government departments took the lead role what was the input of the Treasury and Bank of England and what was the relationship between Ministers and civil servants The study draws heavily from the official records of the British Government to which the author was given full access and from interviews with leading figures involved in each of the privatisations including ex Ministers civil servants business and City figures as well as academics that have studied the subject This new official history will be of much interest to students of British political history economics and business studies A Bibliography of British History, 1914-1989 Keith Robbins,American Historical Association,Royal Historical Society (Great Britain),1996 Containing over 25 000 entries this unique volume will be absolutely indispensable for all those with an interest in Britain in the twentieth century Accessibly arranged by theme with helpful introductions to each chapter a huge range of topics is covered There is a comprehensive index Nationalisation of Industries in Bangladesh Fazlul Hassan Yusuf,1985 Public Enterprises In Pakistan Robert Laporte,Muntazar Bashir Ahmed,2019-07-11 This book contains a study of the economics and management of public enterprises in Pakistan It examines their performance organizational behavior relationships with other government organizations outside of the sector and the issues that confront the public enterprise sector and the government
