The Natural History Of The Soul In Ancient Mexico:

The Natural History of the Soul in Ancient Mexico Jill Leslie McKeever Furst, 1995-01-01 A richly illustrated look at basic Precolumbian beliefs among ancient Mesoamerican peoples about life and death body and soul Drawing on linguistic ethnographic and iconographic sources art historian Jill McKeever Furst argues that the Mexica turned not to mental or linguistic constructions for verifying ideas about the soul but to what they experienced through the senses 32 illustrations

The Natural History of the Soul in Ancient Mexico Jill Leslie McKeever Furst, 1995 México's Nobodies B. Christine Arce, 2016-12-28 2016 Victoria Urbano Critical Monograph Book Prize presented by the International Association of Hispanic Feminine Literature and Culture Winner of the 2018 Katherine Singer Kovacs Prize presented by the Modern Language Association Honorable Mention 2018 Elli Kongas Maranda Professional Award presented by the Women's Studies Section of the American Folklore Society Analyzes cultural materials that grapple with gender and blackness to revise traditional interpretations of Mexicanness Mexico's Nobodies examines two key figures in Mexican history that have remained anonymous despite their proliferation in the arts the soldadera and the figure of the mulata B Christine Arce unravels the stunning paradox evident in the simultaneous erasure in official circles and ongoing fascination in the popular imagination with the nameless people who both define and fall outside of traditional norms of national identity The book traces the legacy of these extraordinary figures in popular histories and legends the Inquisition ballads such as La Adelita and La Cucaracha iconic performers like To a la Negra and musical genres such as the son jarocho and danzón This study is the first of its kind to draw attention to art's crucial role in bearing witness to the rich heritage of blacks and women in contemporary Mexico

Latin American Narratives and Cultural Identity Irene Maria Blayer, Mark Cronlund Anderson, 2004 This book presents a selection of fourteen provocative and unique essays bringing together the views of exciting new scholarship on narratives and cultural identity in Latin America In so doing it balances theory methodology and description The offerings in this volume deliver a clarion mix of original voices and cutting edge approaches to the exploration of the topics which reflect diverse perspectives on Latin American culture and literature The contributions feature analyses of Latin American oral tradition cultural identity memory construction storytelling literary truth claims myth autobiography cultural policy and history folk art and cinema The Last Pescadores of Chimalhuacán, Mexico Jeffrey R. Parsons, 2006-01-01 Based on his study of the nearly vanished aquatic economy of Chimalhuac n in the Valley of Mexico Parsons describes the surviving vestiges of aquatic insect collection and fishing and considers their developmental and archaeological implications within a broad context of historical ethnographic biological ecological and archaeological information from Mexico North and South America the Near East and Africa Activities implements artifacts and landscapes are richly illustrated in many cases with the author s own photos and a number of vintage photographs The study concludes that aquatic resources were fully complementary with agricultural products during prehispanic times in Mesoamerica where a pastoral economy was absent

Conceptualization of 'xihuitl' Mutsumi Izeki,2008 This study is concerned with how the Postclassic Mexica people developed their unique perspective of history and environment in a dynamic cultural context By focusing on the process of conceptualization of the Nahuatl word xihuitl the author analyzes the way the Mexica expressed their cognition Xihuitl covers a range of meanings turquoise grass solar year comet preciousness blue green and fire The correlations of the meanings of xihuitl can be explained from a structural point of view However structural analysis does not reveal the dynamic experiential processes that produced such correlations in the minds of the Mexica In order to account for this dynamic aspect of the concept the author employs a theory drawn from cognitive science This theory argues that the meanings and representations of a concept are metaphoric extensions that derive from the central sense of the concept Applying this theory the author examines the metaphoric extension of each xihuitl representation from the central sense The author also analyzes the four media of expression linguistic iconographic material and ritual in which representations of xihuitl occur The representations of xihuitl in each medium embody a particular aspect of the concept At the same time the concept as a whole was affected by the Mexica conceptual system the way the Mexica saw their world rooted in the connections they believed existed between themselves and those who established earlier Central Mexican civilizations

Bibliographic Guide to Latin American Studies 1996 G K HALL,G. K. Hall and Co. Staff,1997-07 Divination and the Shamanic Story Michael Berman,2008

Stories have traditionally been classified as epics myths sagas legends folk tales fairy tales parables or fables However the definitions of the terms have a tendency to overlap making it difficult to classify and categorize material For this reason a case can be made for the introduction of a new genre termed the shamanic story a story that has either been based on or inspired by a shamanic journey a numinous experience in non ordinary reality or one that contains a number of the elements typical of such a journey Other characteristics include the way in which the stories all tend to contain embedded texts often the account of the shamanic journey itself how the number of actors is clearly limited as one would expect in subjective accounts of what can be regarded as inner journeys and how the stories tend to be used for healing purposes Within this new genre it is proposed that there exists a sub genre shamanic stories that deal specifically with divination and examples are presented and analysed to support this hypothesis By means of textual analysis it can be shown they all share certain attributes in common the identification of which forms the conclusion of the work
