The Natural Basis of Patriarchy Bruce A. Williamson, 1990-09 Books in Print, 1977 Education, Equality and Justice in the New Normal Inny Accioly, Donaldo Macedo, 2021-09-09 Written by leading scholars and activists from Brazil Chile Greece Italy Malta the UK and the USA this book shows how vitally important education is in addressing the complex social and political problems which have been exacerbated by the coronavirus pandemic The growing protest and demonstrations worldwide including the Black Lives Matter and environmental movements have served as platforms to unmask the embedded racism sexism classism and discrimination which are rooted in neo colonial forms of exploitation People are recognizing the intensification of the genocide of black youth indigenous peoples peasants and traditional communities in the global ghettos The rising level of conscientization reached through these protests and demonstrations makes it clear that critical educators must refuse the return to neoliberal normality after pandemic The chapters cover the tensions and contradictions that fuel debates in education concerning social distancing collective illness increasing social and economic inequality and privatization reforms The contributors argue for social and environmental justice the importance of educators and teacher unions the role of environmental education the need to guarantee cultural diversity and the strengthening of ancestral cultures The book includes chapters by Noam Chomsky Amy Goodman and Henry A Giroux and a Foreword by Antonia Darder

Domestic Disturbances, Patriarchal Values Marianna Muravyeva, 2017-10-02 This book offers an in depth analysis of several national case studies on family violence between the sixteenth and nineteenth centuries using court records as their main source It raises important questions for research on early modern Europe the notion of absolute power sovereignty and its applicability to familial power the problem of violence and the possibility of its usage for conflict resolution both in public and private spaces and the interconnection of gender and violence against women reconsidered in the context of modern state formation as a public sphere and family building as a private sphere Contributors bring together detailed studies of domestic violence and spousal murder in Romania England and Russia abduction and forced marriage in Poland infanticide and violence against parents in Finland and rape and violence against women in Germany These case studies serve as the basis for a comparative analysis of forms models and patterns of violence within the family in the context of debates on political power absolutism and violence They highlight changes towards unlimited violence by family patriarchs in European countries in the context of the changing relationship between the state and its citizens This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of the History of the Family

Theorizing Patriarchy Sylvia Walby, 1991-01-08 Sylvia Walby provides an overview of recent theoretical debates Marxism radical and liberal feminism post structuralism and dual systems theory She shows how each can be applied to a range of substantive topics from paid work housework and the state to culture sexuality and violence relying on the most up to date empirical findings Arguing that patriarchy has been vigorously adaptable to the changes in women's position and that some of women's hard won social gains have been transformed into new traps Walby proposes a combination of class analysis with radical feminist theory to explain gender relations in terms of both patriarchal and capitalist structure Reader's Guide to the History of Science Arne Hessenbruch,2013-12-16 The Reader's Guide to the History of Science looks at the literature of science in some 550 entries on individuals Einstein institutions and disciplines Mathematics general themes Romantic Science and central concepts Paradigm and Fact The history of science is construed widely to include the history of medicine and technology as is reflected in the range of disciplines from which the international team of 200 contributors are drawn
